Inviting a burglar

A common practice among homeowners is to leave an extra key outside the house, hidden under the doormat or in a flowerpot. Police say its one of worst mistakes you can make. If you can hide a key, a burglar can find it.

How to protect your home from burglars

By RON PORTER

The burglary business is booming with over two million burglaries committed annually nationwide. Burglars, who strike somewhere every 15 seconds, take an average of $310 per job, or a total of $620 million per year.

In Sikeston last year, 105 burglaries were committed, costing their victims a total of $32,550.

The victims often make it easy for burglars to work. They leave doors and windows unlocked, or take a vacation and fail to stop newspaper and milk deliveries. They don't cooperate with police by reporting the losses quickly, and they can't describe their own stolen merchandise. Neighbors and passersby lack concern or interest in what is going on at the empty house.

Sikeston police have issued a list of things the homeowner, apartment dweller or vacationer can do to reduce the risks of burglary.

Among things suggested are: Change locks on the doors when you move into a previously occupied building. You have no way of knowing who might have keys to your door.

Don't hide your key outside the door, under the doormat, or in the flower pot. If you can hide it, a burglar can find it. If you want an extra key nearby, leave one with a trusted neighbor.

Use auxiliary deadbolt locks on all exterior doors. Spring latch locks of the kind which snap shut when you close the door are easily opened by burglars.

Don't let strangers into your home. Ask for identification. People on legitimate business will be glad to show it.

Report broken street lights in your neighborhood. Street lights take away a burglar's hiding place and discourage him.

Don't leave the house and car keys together with attendants at public parking lots or service stations. Your house keys can be quickly duplicated and your address obtained from license plate records.

Don't give information to strangers on the telephone. On wrong numbers, don't tell the caller your number. Report continued wrong number calls to the telephone company and police department.

Use metal grill work on glass in entrance doors and decorative side- glass to prevent burglars from breaking the glass and reaching inside to open the door.

Report to police any strangers loitering in your neighborhood, or people asking strange or vague questions about your neighbors and their whereabouts.

Store ladders and other items inside. Don't let them lay around outside. If you can't put them away, lock them up.

If you see someone in your neighbor's yard, don't be afraid to check the identity with your neighbor by phone.

Close your garage door. If it's open and empty, it's an invitation.

Lock all doors and windows at night. Patio doors can be secured easily by putting a strip of wood into the inside track preventing the sliding door from opening.

Leave several lights burning in different parts of the house when you go out. Have the yard lighted, too.

Vary your routine. If you follow the same routine each week, a would- be burglar could watch your movements and know when your house is likely to be empty.

For apartment dwellers, police suggest:

Single women should not put their full name on the mail box. Their first and middle initial should be used instead of Miss or Mrs.

Keep outer doors locked. Don't let anyone in unless you're sure of their identity.

Keep as few valuables as possible in your apartment. Money, jewelery , furs, etc., are safer in a safety deposit box or vault than in the apartment.

Get references for maids, cleaning women, etc., who may have to work inside your apartment while you are away.

For vacationers, police suggest:

Make provisions to keep you lawn mowed in the summer and the sidewalks shoveled in the winter while you are away.

Move valuables from in front of windows so they can't be seen from outside. Make a list of valuables so you will know if they are missing when you return.

Arrange inspection by a trusted neighbor if you will be gone more than a few days to be sure nothing has been disturbed.

Don't close the blinds, pull down the shades or do other things that advertise that the house is empty.

Use an automatic clock timer of photo-electric relay to turn lights on and off, giving the house an occupied look. Have a neighbor alter the lighting pattern part way through your absence.

In case of a break- in, a neighbor should know where to reach you and your insurance agent and should give this information to the police.

What do you do if you think your home has been entered? Go to another phone and call police. Don't touch anything in your home. Leave everything exactly as you find it, so evidence will not be destroyed.

Citizens oppose effort to move extension center

BENTON — A group of concerned citizens met with the Scott County, Court Thursday to voice opposition to the moving of the University of Missouri Extension Center meeting room from the second floor to the third floor of the courthouse and replacing it with the Magistrate Courtroom.

Second District Judge Louie Hirschowitz said a lot of false rumors have been going around concerning the possibility of moving the extension center. He said the court has not made a decision and is willing to listen to both sides. He also said the court would make the best possible decision without any influence from anyone.

Hirschowitz said he had received several phone calls from citizens who had the false impression that the extension center would be moved completely out of the courthouse. He said the report is not true and, if the court decides to move the Magistrate Court to the meeting room, another room on the third floor would be made available for the extension center.

Judge Lloyd Briggs said the grand jury report stated the Magistrate Court should be located on the second floor since this is basically where most court procedures are handled and, in his opinion, the extension center meeting room would be the only suitable place.

Presiding Judge Les Lankford expressed his opinion in favor of moving the Magistrate Court to the County Courtroom. Although Judge Briggs and Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore expressed opposition to Magistrate Court being moved to the County Court room, Lankford said he thought there would be plenty of room for the court and, with some remodeling, the room could be a workable solution.

Moore said that, although the County Court room could possibly handle the two courts, he himself could not see how.

Moore said one of the first impressions made upon young offenders is the atmosphere of the courtroom and, if they are afraid when

Viet Cong release 32 more POWs

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — The Viet Cong released 32 more American prisoners of war today, and the senior officer in the group thanked President Nixon for ordering the bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong last December.

Air Force Col. Theodore W. Guy of Tucson, Ariz., told a welcoming crowd at Clark Air Base he has no doubts that the heavy bombing of North Vietnam's two main cities helped hasten the end of the war.

"We are gratful that we had a President that made those decisions," said Guy, 43. He was captured when his Phantom fighter-bomber was downed during a strike mission over Laos on March 22, 1968.

"Dignity, honor and love of country are three things that most of us treasured and thought of for many years," Guy said. "On behalf of the men in this group, I would like to thank the President of the United States, Mr. Nixon, for bringing us home with this dignity and honor."

His words were in sharp contrast to antiwar and antimilitary statements attributed to a dozen of the men in the group by Communist broadcasts since 1968. However, all came off the plane smartly, saluted the colors and were cheered by the crowd.

A U.S. Air Force hospital plane brought Guy, 26 other military prisoners and five civilians from Hanoi. At Clark Air Base they joined 108 POWs released by North Vietnam on Wednesday and two Vietnam war fliers freed by Communist China Thursday.

The men freed Wednesday will begin leaving for the United States Saturday, and most of the 142 freed this week are expected to be home early next week.

Others freed today included the POW held longest in Vietnam, Maj. Floyd J. Thompson, 39, of Hudson, Mass., who was captured on March 26, 1964, and Philip W. Manhard, 51, of the State Department, the senior U.S. civilian captured during the war.

3 juveniles held as theft suspects

CHARLESTON-- Three juveniles— two 16- year olds and one 15- year old— all of Oak Lawn, Ill., are being held for investigation of car theft and possession of marijuana by Juvenile Officer Gordon Galemore.

The three were arrested about 6 a.m. today on Byrd Avenue in Charleston by Asst. Police Chief Spencer Presson.

The car, a station wagon reportedly stolen from the Chicago area, ran out of gas, and the three were apparently attempting to steal gasoline when police were called. A set of license plates belonging to Johnny Joyner of Charleston were reportedly found on the car.

Search under way for jail escapee

BLOOMFIELD — Tommy Everett Jones, 25, of Dexter is being sought by authorities after escaping from the Stoddard County jail about 7:30 p.m. Thursday. He reportedly escaped through a basement door and climbed over a fence.

He was being held on charges of burglary, stealing, destruction of personal property non support and felonious escape. Jones had also escaped from the jail with four other men on Feb. 23. The men were captured the same day in and near Dexter.

According to the highway patrol Jones is five feet six inches tall, weighs 150 pounds, has brown eyes and black hair and a fair complextion. He has a tatoo on his right arm.

Jones is believed to have stolen a car belonging to Anthony DeLay of Bloomfield. The car was stolen between 7 and 8 p.m. Thursday in Bloomfield. The Dexter City Police recovered the car at 8:15 p.m. abandoned west of the Weber Rambler Co. near Mulberry St.

Beating suspect bound to circuit

NEW MADRID — Johnny Nelson of Portageville was bound over Thursday to Circuit Court under $500 bond on felonious assault charge. He waived preliminary hearing before Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Nelson is charged with severly beating Isabell Jelks Monday at her home at Froggy Bottoms near Portageville. She is in Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Nelson, who is under 10 year probation for murder in the shotgun death of Nathaniel Banks in July of 1969, was taken into custody Tuesday by parole officer Gary Miller and Police Chief Joe Moore.

Finally, a dry spot

If you people think you have it bad, you ought to be in my spot. I'm a snapping turtle, and I live in a lot of water most of the time anyway and I like it but this is just ridiculous! I mean, there's that crazy river on one side that's climbing high enough to nearly drown me and on the other side, the weathermen won't stop all this dumb rain long enough for me to find a shallow place in a field to relax. Man, at least you people have this nice high levee road to dry out on for a few minutes. It's almost worth ducking all the cars.

SeMo teachers elect officers

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Mrs. Frances Phillips of Dexter was elected first vice president and Charles Robert Depro of Sikeston was elected second vice president of the Southeast Missouri Teachers Association Wednesday night.

Both will serve with Mrs. Wanda McAnally of Kennett, who will become president at the end of the teachers convention now in session at Southeast Missouri State University.

Miss Jeannette Haubold, an education specialist at the Learning Improvement Center of the New Madrid County R-1 enlarged school district, was elected to the executive committee.

Mrs. Phillips will automatically become president in 1974, after serving as first vice president this year. Mrs. McAnally, a teacher at Kennett High School, has served as first vice president under Mrs. Opal Wright of Farmington.

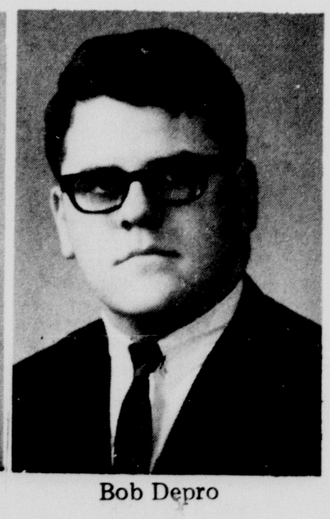

The elections took place at the Assembly of Delegates meeting Wednesday night in Rose Theater at SeMo State University. The convention opened Thursday and will close today.

Mrs. Phillips is a fifth grade teacher at Central School and president of the Dexter Community Teachers Association.

She is a graduate of Dexter High School and attended Southeast Baptist College in Bolivar and Southeast Missouri State University. She holds bachelor of science and master of arts degrees in elementary education and has completed additional graduate work in elementary guidance.

Frances Phillips

Bob Depro

In 17 years as a classroom teacher, she has worked in the community teachers organization and served on various committees for the Missouri State Teachers Association and the State Department of Education.

Depro, a geography and sociology teacher at Sikeston High School, was nominated from the floor and defeated George W. Landrum of Fredericktown who had been put up by the nominating committee. Depro has been teaching in Sikeston for seven years and was president of the Sikeston Community Teachers Association in 1971. In November 1972, he was named outstanding educator in the field of geography for 1972 by the Missouri State Teachers Association.

Several resolutions were passed at the delegates meeting Wednesday night. The resolutions give the officers a tool to lobby with.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

We are all apt to sympathize with ourselves more than with other people.

* * *

WE'RE STILL GROWING!

In spite of a great deal of talk these days about birth control, population growth restrictions and fertility level reductions, the United States of America continues to grow like Topsy. Statistics just released by the U. S. Census Bureau report that as of March 1, 1973 we have surpassed the two hundred and ten million figure by 380,316 souls.

This is somewhat startling to learn, in view of the fact that as of the 1970 census, U. S. population numbered a little less than 205 million. This means that our population increase alone, in the past three years, is equal to more than the entire U. S. population in 1800. Indeed, even by the year 1880, we still had only fifty million people in what was then 47 States. Or, to make another comparison, we have doubled our population since 1920. It took us 300 years to reach the first 105 million; only 53 years for the second.

In the last year, since March 1, 1972, we have added more people than the entire population of Detroit. Indeed from Feb. 1 to March 1 of this year, we grew by 84,522.

That is a lot more mouths to feed, bodies to clothe, and - in time - families to house. And what happens when all of them reach the age to drive their own cars? It boggles the mind!

After a man has saved his money and built a house larger than his family needs, his relatives begin to punish him. If relatives come from another town to visit, his family says, "Let's send them to Bill's. He has plenty of room." The result is that Bill often wishes he were back in the little three-room house in which he went to housekeeping.

Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Some philosophers fear we are witnessing a reversal of sex roles in our society. Little girls are behaving like tomboys and their mothers like tom-men as women in general attempt to act more like men. Men, too, are beginning to return the compliment by acting more like women.

The interchange has gone so far that in some marriages it is the husband who is the better cook and the wife who knows more about baseball. One of the problems the whole question raises is what will our next generation of young males be like? Will they take the trend even further, and become the first generation of tomgirls in our national history?

Somehow the idea of being safeguarded by an army whose men do crocheting while on sentry duty doesn't appeal to me.

The human conscience works in odd ways. I have had a lifelong aversion to eating lamb ever since at the age of five I drew a picture of a lamb which the kindergarten teacher praised as the best ever drawn by a student in her classes.

That flattery made it impossible for me ever again to eat lamb knowingly and enjoy it. It offended my conscience to do so. I suspect, however, that had I drawn the worst picture of a lamb made by any member of the class, today I could relish lamb by the heaping plateful.

Red-haired omen are less likely to get fat than blondes or brunettes. Why? Why, for the same reason that red-haired girls are more interesting to men than are blondes or brunettes. They have a quicker metabolism.

(Editor's note: Boyle has been crazy about red-haired girls ever since he was jilted by the one who drew the second-best picture of a lamb in his kindergarten class.)

If you ever felt sorry for onelegged men because you felt their disability was a handicap in their romantic life, forget it. Such men often say that instead of repelling women, it is irrestistibly attractive to many women. One explained: "The only way I can figure it out is that they are simply overwhelmed by curiosity over what you will do with the store leg when the moment of truth comes."

The saddest criticism I know of life in America is this: More people you meet can reminisce with gladness about details of their childhood than can recall with fondness what has happened to them since they grew up.

The energy crisis is much in the news today. In an effort to conserve energy, the President's Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) is appealing to U.S. citizens to practice conservation both at home and work in the use of electricity and heat.

America now consumes about 29 per cent of its energy in industry, 25 per cent in transportation, including getting back and forth to work, 21 per cent for residential and commercial purposes, and 25 per cent for utilities.

But the nation can keep warm, get to work, and keep industry humming with much less energy than is now being used, according to the OEP. "Save energy, and you save money!" is the OEP slogan.

And OEP offers some tips on how you can help conserve fuel and electric energy at home, on the road, and on the job as follows:

Weatherstrip and caulk around windows and doors. Properly applied, this can keep out cold air and seal in warm air so effectively that your family's heating bill can be cut 15 to 30 per cent.

Install storm windows or insulated glass to cut in half the heat that is needlessly lost through the windows in your house.

Increase insulation in attics and walls when possible.

Install wood sash windows whenever possible. Wood is a poor conductor of heat and moisture and therefore an excellent natural insulator.

Keep your heating and air conditioning equipment in top operating efficiency. Vacuum dust and lint from air intake registers. Replace furnace air filters every two to four months or when they become loaded with dust or lint.

In homes without storm windows, close curtains at night. This results in some deflection of drafts and more comfort. A little heat may also be saved.

Turn off electric lights, TV, radio and other electric utilities when they are not needed. Every kilowatt- hour saved is a benefit to you and the nation.

Repair leaking water faucts. A leak of one drop per second adds up to about 650 gallons per year. A leak that fills an ordinary cup in 10 minutes wastes 3,280 gallons per year. If this is heated water, the loss is very expensive.

Lower the thermostate setting in your house at night. By reducing the thermostate setting four degrees for eight hours each night, a savings of $1.80 on a $60 monthly heating bill can be achieved.

If you live in a metropolitan area, consider riding a bus rather than a car. It takes up to five times as much energy to get a person from home to work in an auto than it does by bus. The auto, with less than 10 per cent energy fuel- use efficiency, is an expensive consumer of energy.

Many of the same points mentioned in the foregoing to conserve heat loss in winter also apply to air conditioning savings in the summer.

Remember, when you conserve fuel and energy, you help yourself, your community and your country.

A STORY WITH A MORAL

Two news releases from the Pacific Northwest carry a story and a moral. One dealth with the announcement of the federal government's Bonneville Power Administration that curtailment of power deliveries to industries in the region would be continued. The other release told of a local investor - owned power company moving ahead with construction of a nuclear power plant that would bolster the sagging Northwest power supply in four years.

The significant part about the latter release is that the power company is gambling millions of dollars on preliminary construction work while licensing of the project by government authorities remains held up in the usual tangle of hearings and controversy. The invester - owned company faces a grim choice of "playing it safe" by waiting until the last regulatory signature is on the dotted line at the risk of a resulting power shortage or of starting work at the risk of losing its investment if the blessing from on high doesn't come through. It has chosen the latter course.

This the story. The moral is that the investor - owned company, as a private enterprise, exists for but one purpose -- to serve its customers and the well- being of the region in which it operates. Unless it can do this, the justification for its existence as a private enterprise is lost. Science and experience have shown that nuclear energy is the safest and most practicable answer to tomorrow's energy needs. Therefore, the company feels obliged to go ahead with its nuclear plower plant. It has faith that common sense will dictate official approval of the plant in due time. A government agency is driven by no such single-minded compulsion. It can move only as rapidly as the ponderous process of a centralized bureaucracy permits it to move. Sometimes that is too little and too late.

JOINING THE WAR ON DRUG ABUSE

Among the first to praise Congress and the Administration for an enactment of one of the most comprehensive drug abuse and control laws in the nation's history was a spokesman for the U. S. pharmaceutical industry. The president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacutrers Association, Mr. C. Joseph Stetler, speaking on behalf of 124 companies that manufacture 95 per cent of all U. S. prescription medicines declared that, "Drug abuse has become a frightening problem for millions of Americans. It is absolutely proper for the federal government to exercise this type of aggressive leadership to stem the use of physically and psychologically damaging illicit substances, to control the misuse of legitimate medicines produced for the health and welfare of citizens, and to support rehabilitative needs for victims of the drug problem."

However, the drug industry spokesman went on to say that it would be a "mistake" to believe the federal program represented a total solution. "It will take the combined efforts of government, the pharmaceutical industry, the health, education and law enforcement communities, and responsible citizenship and parenthood to assure success," he added. In addition to cooperating in enforcement of the new act, the drug industry is pursuing new programs designed to maximize security in plants and in those parts of the distribution system subject to company control. Further, the Association has a program of drug abuse activities that includes the development and promotion with the American School Health Association of a curriculum guide being used by teachers of grades kindergarten through 12.

The business of the prescription drug industry is to save lives. It is a powerful ally of government and the public in the grim task of bringing drug abuse under control.

ETERNAL OPTIMISTS

Hope springs eternal they say. Those may not be the exact words of the ancient expression, but they at least serve to illuminate the deep-running strain of optimism that keeps American businessmen going despite the odds. A recent survey of U. S. executives shows that most of them, although concerned about inflation and the state of the economy, are convinced their own firms will continue to prosper.

What is there for a businessman to do but plan to move ahead? It is as instinctive as breathing. After all, people have to eat, they have to live and, in spite of all the fine spun theories, they will continue to work to achieve these ends. And, the businessman will continue in one way or another to strive to fulfill peoples' wants for jobs, for goods and services and for new opportunities. Many businesses will fail, but businessmen will continue to dream and plan for the future. That is the way the nation was built and that is the way it will conquer its problems and become greater in the years ahead.

THREE COMPANIES FUND NEW PROJECT TO MAKE COAL-GAS

Over $5 million is being invested by three companies to commerce the design of commerical plants which would convert coal into pollution - free gas and symthetic crude oil.

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, Tennessee Gas Pipe Line Company, a Division of Tenneco, Inc. and FMC Corporation have agreed to construct a pilot gasification plan to demonstrate the process feasibility of a commercial sized plant.

The three companies issued the following statement: "The nation's need for substantially increased supplies of clean energy can be met through research and development that will permit utilization of America's vast coal resources in an environmentally acceptable manner."

The companies anticipate results within 18 to 24 months. The degree of success obtained will determine whether a commercial coal conversion plant will be undertaken late in this decade.

DOWN-UNDER EXPERT GIVES URBAN COSTS 2ND AND 3RD LOOK

Few city administrations have been as successful as New Haven, Conn., in obtaining funds from Federal government programs for urban reform, Donald A. Kemp writes in the Institute of Public Affairs Review, Melbourne, Australia. "Where New York has struggled to get $50 per capita from the Federal government, New Haven has obtained more than $400 per capita," he says.

Yet, Mr. Kemp asserts, "despite these huge funds, not only has New Haven many problems yet unsolved, but it would scarcely have been feasible to have provided other cities of similar size with funds on a comparable scale.

"To have done so would probably cost something on the order of $150 billion." Mr. Kemp's conclusion was that, "Nothing could illustrate more vividly the limitations of wealth alone in the solution of social problems."

INCREASING COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN CARIBBEAN

The Caribbean Sea is of vital strategic importance to the United States. The communists are well aware of this fact and are gaining increasing influence throughout the area.

In an article in the Detroit News, Colonel Robert Heinl, Jr. recently discussed this growing threat. Colonel Heinl gave three reasons for the strategic significance of the Caribbean: Raw materials imported from Latin America must move through this sea; the Panama Canal provides a link between the East and West Coasts of our country; and our Gulf Coast states would be in easy reach of any hostile power which controlled the Caribbean.

Within the last few months, four Caribbean members of the Organization of American States, Jamaica, Trinidad-Tobago, Barbados and Guyana, established diplomatic relations with Cuba, in spite of U.S. efforts to prevent the move. Haiti is thought likely to follow the same course soon, since Port- au- Prince's semi-official newspaper, Le Nouveau Monde, is urging recognition of Castro's government.

Panama is becoming increasingly hostile to the United States and friendly to communist nations. Recently, Panamanian dictator Omar Torrijos Herrera described the Cuban missile blockade of 1962 as "ridicualous and unilateral." During the past several months, Cuba and Panama have exchanged delegations of athletes, journalists and culture-merchants.

If the Soviets are able to set up bases in these countries, major U.S cities, such as Houston, Atlanta and New Orleans, will be seriously threatened. Our government should move not to encourage the extending of diplomatic recognition to Cuba. HLH

Lady Gets Tough: Strikeless Society Can Rescue America and Millions of Jobs

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK-- Blondie is furious. No tantrum. Justifiable anger. And when she takes time out of her battle for more money, dignity and coverage for topless and bottomless acts, she's truly motivated.

For Blondie is Penny Singleton, executive president of the American Guild of Variety Artists (AGVA) (AFL— CIO). Thus she's America's only female national union chief. Her union of variety artists (vaudevillians and night club entertainers) is hard hit. She calls the nation's entertainment industry "a disaster area." Glamor, yes; groceries, no.

So president Singleton is battling imports in her field. Imports of acts, special acts too; eight men transvestite groups or one singer and four models. Even circus people from behind the Iron Curtain.

Penny is the prettiest labor leader I know. And one of the toughest-- what with being the daughter of a typographer. She has an import problem. But she has muscle. Other labor leaders, the biggest, the toughest, the men with the hardest political clout, have import problems too. But Penny has some federal laws on her side when she wants to shut the docks and airports to competing foreign acts.

The arrangement is for the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) to clear with the Variety Artists and with the Hollywood- New York based Screen Actors Guild (SAG) (AFL— CIO) on the admission of "acts" seeking work here.

Penny and leaders of the talent craft can veto what's called H- 2 performers-- run-of- the- mill grind type. H- 1 are the rare specialists, the Sir John Gielguds, and the unions can't veto them.

But when the Australian Actors and Announcers Equity Assn. (a union) writes Penny, as its president did the other day, that American radio, television and stage performers are not welcome to work down under, she can turn to the INS.

So she has some control over "imports" which threaten her people, many of whom have been jobless for some time. But there is little the men of Steel and auto and electronics can do when imports wipe out their members' jobs-- little except to exhort the American worker on to superior quality production and swifter productivity.

There appears to be no other answer. Talking recently with such men as Murray Finley, president of the men's clothing workers union, and Lou Stulberg, leader of the ladies' garment workers union, and some of their colleagues, I got the feeling whole sections of their industries will just fade away. How can our shops compete with the 10 cents an hour rate in the latest production sector, Jakarta, capital of Indonesia? How can they compete with the 25 cents a day of Ceylon?

How can they compete with Singapore? It's no longer the island city of "Come Home Bill Bailey" and pukka sahib. It's a labor city- state politically and industrially. Its Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew is a Socialist. But Singapore newspapers tell the world of workers' tranquility and of productivity and manufacturing facilities. Recently, one manufacturer sent 60 men to train in New England for ball- bearing production. They returned to compete with our people.

Recently, I.W. Abel, president of the Steelworkers, reported that some 18 million tons of steel had been imported into the U.S. last year-- costing America 105,000 full- time jobs.

Slowly imports are eating into the auto industry. In 1972 Americans bought 1.6 million foreign- made autos. Even the Soviets are about to enter the field with their four models of a car called Lada (made by Italy's Fiat people in Russia).

Just the other day Abel, head of the AFL— CIO's Industrial Union Dept., said that:

"Because of world marketing changes there has been a massive assault on American industries and jobs. For example, nine out of ten radios sold in the U.S. are made abroad; one of six cars; seven of ten sweaters; 19 of 20 motorcycles, one of two nails, and nine of 10 baseball gloves. We import 100 per cent of our 35 mm cameras, 96 per cent of our magnetic tape recorders, 70 per cent of our portable typewriters and over 50 per cent of our black and white television sets."

What's the answer? In any era, but especially in the meteoric flare of food prices, folks will go for the lowest price.

Perhaps the answer is in what just happened in the railroad field-- a contract settlement more than three months in advance of expiration. True, the settlement came because the 14 national unions feared bankruptcy of their pension system by 1984, but the leaders did sign-- and the unions' favorite work rules are not disturbed.

And such men as Abe Abel appear to want to settle the steel contracts perhaps a year in advance. The answer must be in a strikeless society-- and quality in product and productivity.

Otherwise many an industry will be a disaster area sooner or later. And it's later than you think.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:

Expect Whalley Indictment Soon

WASHINGTON-- Aging, ailing former Rep. J. Irving Whalley, a one- time United Nations delegate, may soon be prosecuted by the Justice Department for taking kickbacks from his employes.

That is the firm recommendation of the United States attorney in Pittsburgh to Attorney General Richard Kleindienst following more than a year of investigation by the FBI.

Whalley, a conservative Pennsylvania Republican, named by President Nixon as a delegate to the U.N. in 1969, was a high- ranking member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and a prominent banker and churchman in Windber, Pa.

Behind this front of impeccable respectability, however, he chiseled his employes for nickels, dimes and dollars from their House salaries to meet his personal and campaign costs.

On September 27, 1971, we began a series of five articles on the eccentric millionaire which led to the FBI probe and caused Whalley to give up plans for a seventh congressional term.

A few weeks ago, Pittsburgh's U.S. Attorney Richard Thornburgh, himself a Republican, assessed the huge documentation amassed by the FBI in Pennsylvania and Washington and sent his recommendation to the Justice Department.

Variety Of Charges

In his memo, Thornburgh suggested the case "go forward" against the backwoods Bobby Baker. Thornburgh recommends prosecution of Whalley on a variety of kickback charges.

But to get a federal grand jury into action, Thornburgh will need the personal approval of Kleindienst who, ironically, was once stoutly defended by Whalley.

Whalley's friends on Capitol Hill are not optimistic that Kleindienst will return the courtesy. They point out that nothing would help take the sting out of the Watergate case like the indictment of a prominent Republican by the Nixon Administration.

Whalley, now 70 years old, ill with chronic heart and arthritic problems, no longer useful to his party, is just the sort of gray- fleeced sacrificial lamb that the Justice Department needs. A decision by the Administration is expected shortly.

Reached in Pittsburgh, U.S. Attorney Thornburgh declined any comment. Whalley, who has consistently denied all wrongdoing, reitereated from Windber that he was innocent of any violations.

Sugarcoated Danger

One of America's major pharmaceutical firms has sugar-coated the bitter dangers of a fast- selling drug it is promoting for Mexican children. Such concealment is against the law in the United States.

Indeed, when Sterling Drug's Winthrop Laboratories peddles "Winstrol" in the United States, it carefully warns that the drug should be used only for a rare blood disease, a bone disease of the aged, and dwarfism. Sterling's ads in the United States honestly advise doctors that "Winstrol" can atrophy the testicles of boys, deform the genitals of girls, and stunt the growth of both. It also may cause female baldness and deepending of young girls' voices.

But Sterling is not bound by U.S. law in Mexico. Reporters for "The Medical Letter," a nonprofit magazine, discovered a two- page ad from Sterling's foreign division depicting a healthy young boy of about seven. The ad recommends he be given "Winstrol Compound" (the same drug with vitamins and iron) "if he complains of poor appetite, fatigue or weight loss."

There is no warning in the ad to Mexican doctors that their young patients may suffer genital damage and other dire effects and that long dosage of "Winstrol Compound" increases the chances of these disasters.

Sterling's medical director, Dr. Monroe Trout, said the ad had been discontinued, that it complied with Mexican law and that warnings were available to doctors in other literature on "Winstrol Compound."

When we asked him whether there was a moral responsibility to give doctors of Mexican children the same warnings given doctors of American children, Dr. Trout replied, "I don't think there is a moral question."

Capitol Crimes

Congressional secretaries have long been afraid of walking on the Capitol grounds after dark because of the danger of assaults. Now, some are worried about assaults inside the Capitol buildings in the daytime hours.

One female employe was recently roughed up on the fifth floor of the Cannon House office building. Another was accosted in the same area by a man spewing obscenities, but she escaped.

While Capitol police search for the intruders, some congressmen have come up with their own solution. They want to install buzzers connected to police rooms in all out- of- the- way areas where female staffers must work.

Hearing set for pair charged with burglary

BLOOMFIELD-- Richard McMullin, 23, of Essex and Edward Mark Graham, 19, of Clarkton had their preliminary hearings set for March 22, by Magistrate Judge Koss W. Blomeyer Thursday.

The two are charged with the attempted burglary of Dr. T.L. Waddle's office at 25 South Locust Street in Dexter on Tuesday night. The pair was caught in the act of breaking a window by Dexter City Policeman David Townsend. Bond was set at $2,000 for McMullin. No bond was set for Graham, who is also wanted in New Madrid County for parole violation.

David Allen Duckworth, 22, of Dexter, charged with the burglary and stealing of a rifle, $35 in cash and drugs valued at $100 from the office of Dr. T.L. Waddle in Dexter on Feb. 18, had his preliminary hearing set for March 22.

James Robert Gadis, 17, of Matthews had his preliminary hearing set for March 22. He is charged with parole violation from New Madrid County. Gadis is also charged with two counts of tampering with a motor vehicle and felonious escape from the Stoddard County Jail. Gadis and four other subjects made their escape on Feb. 23 at approximately 10:20 p.m. by prying away a bar and climbing through a window on the south side of the jail. All five were recaptured that same night in or near Dexter.

Jessie Barron of Essex, charged with stealing 7 watches from Wal- Mart on Feb. 22 valued at more than $50, had his preliminary set for March 22. Bond was set at $1,000.

Lewis Edward Robertson of Malden waived his preliminary hearing on charges of leaving the scene of an accident. He will appear in Circuit Court at a later date to be set.

Johnnie Wayne Fry of Dexter pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his license was revoked. He was fined $10 court costs, and given a 30 day jail sentence. Judge Blomeyer permitted a one week stay of the jail sentence for Fry to pay the fine and costs.

Terry D. Blocker and Richard Allen Woolard, both of Dexter, pleaded guilty to possession of an intoxicating liquor and were fined $50 each and court costs. Blocker was also charged with two counts of defacing mailboxes by writing obscene words on them. He pleaded guilty to the charge in October of last year, along with Wollard, who was placed on probation and parole at that time. Blocker was placed on probation for six months by Judge Blomeyer in court Thursday.

Gene R. Worley of Dexter pleaded guilty to two counts of driving while his driving license were suspended. He was fined $25, court costs and received a 30 day suspended jail sentence.

Loyd Lester Hale of Illmo pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding a 25 mile limit on his vehicle. He was fined $10 and costs.

Otis E. Hessling of Dexter pleaded guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving and was fined $15 and court costs.

Calvin Noel Murphy of Bernie was fined $27, court costs and given a 15 day suspended jail sentence, after pleading guilty to a charge of speeding.

Earl Ray Hopkins of Bloomfield pleaded guilty to the charge of careless and imprudent driving and causing an accident. He was fined $15 and court costs.

Elva Jean Bell of Bell City, pleaded guilty to failing to transfer her vehicle license. Her fine was $10 and court costs.

Larry Charles Saudlin of Broseley pleaded guilty to a charge of riding his motorcycle without a helmet and was fined $10 and costs.

Ronald Neal Woods of Fort Meyer, Fla. entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of having expired trailer license. His fine was set at $14 and court costs.

Howard Bartlett of Dexter pleaded guilty to the charge of having expired trailer license. He was fined $5 and costs.

Paul Dean Hayes of St. Louis pleaded guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving and was fined $10 and court costs.

Donald Lee Burch pleaded guilty to a charge of having defective brakes and was fined $10 and costs.

Larry Glen Pratt pleaded guilty to a charge of having no operators license and was fined $5 and costs.

Robert R. Barber charged with having no hunting permit pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs.

Wilford Charles Urhahn of Benton pleaded guilty to a charge of being overweight on his vehicle. He was fined $235 and costs.

Charles G. Stroud, Harrol Dewain Lutes and Daniel Wayne Marshall all pleaded guilty to charges of fishing without a permit and were fined $5 each and court costs.

Four pleaded guilty to the charge of speeding and paid fines and court costs. They were: James Marvin McCanne of Essex, $22; Charles Larry Dover, $13; Jayme Dorene Stewart of Sikeston, $12 and Guy Bollinger of Malden, $24.

8 treated

Eight accident patients were treated Thursday in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Damage by beavers checked by agents

Mounting concern over damage caused by beavers was responsible for a visit to Scott County by conservation agents Bob Smith of Bolivar and Ron McNealy of Peck Ranch, west of Van Buren.

Arthur Bernard of Benton, county conservation agent, took the men to areas where the beavers have been working. Bernard said the beaver problems are being caused in a ditch northwest of Vanduser between town and Baseline Road and in a ditch southwest of Blodgett. There are eight to 10 beavers in each location.

None of the animals were seen during the visit since the beaver is a nocturnal animal which does most of its work during darkness.

"Unless the problems get worse, we will wait until next winter when the animals can be trapped during season," Bernard said.

A beaver pelt is worth $5 to $10 to fur buyers, if the fur is in good condition.

Traffic cases make heavy load for City Court session

Two men were fined $110 each Thursday night in city court on charges of driving while intoxicated.

MSTA booted from NEA

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri State Teachers Association (MTSA) has been kicked out of the National Education Association because the Missouri group did not force its members to become members of three teacher groups, MSTA officials said.

MSTA officials learned of the disaffiliation Thursday night.

The NEA has adopted a unification rule whereby all members must also belong to a local and state group. Members of the Missouri state organization have repeatedly voted against the mandatory membership in three groups -- local, state and national.

The 55,000-member MSTA had been warned by the NEA executive committee that disaffiliation would occur.

Several meetings have been held on the problem in Washington and Los Angeles. The word on disaffiliation came from Washington, officials of the Columbia-based MSTA said.

Last November, the MSTA Assembly of Delegates, comprised of 1,750 teachers and administrators, voted overwhelmingly, for the 12th time, against unification.

The number of teachers belonging to the national association has declined from 29,000 four years ago to 13,000 now.

"Severance of the affiliate status with NEA in no way limits or inhibits local associations and the MSTA in remaining an organization to which all educators may belong," said MSTA Executive Secretary Thomas Penn.

He said disaffiliation came as no surprise.

The NEA membership dues cost $25 a year. The MSTA charges $16 a year.

Two injured in accidents

Two persons were injured in two area traffic accidents Thursday, according to the highway patrol.

Jacqueline Marie Reddatz of Des Arch received head cuts at 9:30 a.m. on Route V in Pilot Knob when the car in which she was riding ran into the rear of a car driven by Benjamin W. Olive, 53, of Farmington which had slowed for a right turn.

Mrs. Reddatz was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Ironton. The driver, Eugene Reddatz, 30, of Des Arc, was not injured.

An accident at 2:50 p.m. two and one- half miles south of Holcomb on Highway 25 resulted in injuries to Jeffrey Dean Acord, 2, of Dexter.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Harvey George Hensley of Tallapoosa was struck from behind by a car driven by Jerry Dean Acord, 20, of Dexter. Acord attempted to stop but was unable to due to wet pavement.

The child was treated and released from Dunklin County Hospital in Kennett.

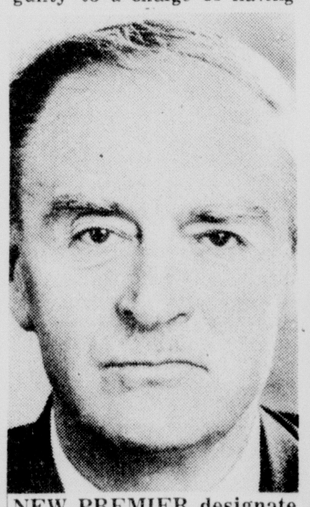

Sikeston contractor arraigned on charges

NEW MADRID — William C. Suchman, a Sikeston building contractor, was placed under bonds totaling $30,000 when he was arraigned Thursday on three felony charges in Magistrate Court.

Suchman is charged with issuing an insufficient funds check of $4,700 to Al Hendricks Plumbing Co. for work and materials in the construction of Sam's Big Star Superamrket on Route U.

He is also charged with fraudulently forging a waiver and release of lien from Steward Steel Supply of Sikeston in the amount of $4,308.69 to Sam Purser, and forging the signature of T. C. Holshouser, secretary-treasurer of Casten Masonry Sales of Cape Girardeau to a release of lien in the amount of $2,044.72 and collecting the money from Purser.

NEW PREMIER designate of the Irish Republic is Liam Cosgrave, leader of a coalition which ended 16 years of rule by outgoing Premier Jack Lynch's Fianna Fail party.

One must learn to love brothers and sisters

by SHAREN K. HUNT
Area Home Economist

Brothers and sisters don't choose each other. They're thrown together by chance, regardless of their differences in age, sex and temperament.

The attachment of parent to child has deep roots in biology. But the bond between brothers and sisters or siblings doesn't have any "natural roots".

From the first they have reason to regard each other as rivals for Mom and Dad's attention, and what they believe is a limited supply of love.

Jealousy occurs in any situation that appears to -- or actually does -- mean we've been left out. In family life, this may mean affection, attention, toys, certain foods, or special trips.

One of the most common times is the arrival of a new brother and sister. The olderchild feels angry and fearful toward his parents who let someone take his place as baby of the family.

Going to school is hard when they know the new family member is home alone with his mother. The baby seems to be a wedge between he and his parents and he resents it.

But youngsters "aren't supposed" to show anger and hostility to parents or siblings. What's the sense of telling children that they must love each other or at least go through the motions, when they don't even like each other?

This "awesome duty" of loving Mom and Dad and his brothers and sisters all the time isn't reasonable.

What it means is that the child, anxious to keep his parents' love, will hide and suppress his hostility or jealousy. Pangs of guilt and fear result and that's not a good feeling for anyone.

Just because children are different and just because they seem to be competitors for the same benefits, the results of good fellowship learned in the home prepares them for the art of living.

Few of us can really live until we learn to get along with others very different from outselves.

Home can be an effective proving ground if children are allowed to express all their feelings — negative and positive, and then learn to enjoy each other's differences.

SeMo Band concert is Tuesday

GIDEON — The annual spring concert festival of Division Two of the Southeast Missouri Band Association will be presented in the high school gymnasium on Tuesday at 7 p.m.

Hueby Moore of Jefferson Junior College in Hillsboro will be the guest clinician.

The wedding has been set for June 30.

State math meet set

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The president of the Mathematical Association of America will be one of the principal speakers when the annual meeting of the Missouri Section of MAA is held March 23-24 on the Southeast Missouri State University campus.

Prof. R. P. Boas, president of MAA and chairman of the mathematics department at Northwestern University, will address approximately 100 Missouri mathematicians expected to gather for the conference at 9 a.m. March 24.

An address by Shirley Hill, a professor at the University of Missouri - Kansas City and member of the board of governors at MAA, and a business session are also scheduled for the second day of the meeting.

The business session will include a report on a mathematics contest conducted in high schools by the association. Participants will also consider a proposal to establish a visiting lecturer program in Missouri high schools.

Dr. Harold Hager, professor of mathematics at Southeast Missouri State, is chairman of the Missouri Section of MAA. He said the section has not met in Cape Girardeau since 1957.

The meeting will open at 1 p.m. March 23 with registration. All sessions will be held in the Rose Theatre of the Language Arts Building except for the banquet on the first evening which will be in Memorial Hall on the campus.

Banquet speaker will be Franz E. Hohn, professor and associate dean of the graduate college at University of Illinois.

The Friday afternoon session will include the presentation of six scholarly papers, one of them by a Southeast Missouri State University faculty member.

Dr. Leon Palmer, associate professor of mathematics, will deliver a paper on "What is a non-Archimedean Field."

According to Dr. Hager, the MAA is a national organization of persons interested in mathematics at the collegiate level. Current membership is more than 18,500, about 330 of whom reside in Missouri.

Object of the association, Dr. Hager said, is to promote the interests of mathematics, especially in the collegiate field. One of the principal ways in which this is done is through meetings at which scholarly papers are presented and discussed.

Seminar dates set

Are you a fabric hound? Are you one of many women unable to pass a fabric shop or department store without stopping to buy just three or four more yards? Do you already have an assortment of fabric lengths stored away to make a whole new wardrobe when you have conquered specific phases of clothing construction and management?

Miss Virginia Twitty, area home economist- home management, in collaboration with Miss Rebecca Nistendirk, area clothing and textile specialist, have arranged a sewing in the round experience in seminar form scheduled for one day only on the following dates: March 27 at Delta Center in Portageville; March 29 at the Christian Church in Malden; and March 30 in the Kennett United Methodist Church.

Setting the stage for the seminar will be Miss Twitty's explanation of the importance of sewing center management. She will stress planning and selection of equipment including the importance of choosing a pattern and fabric suitable to one's abilities.

Included in Miss Twitty's information will be the arrangement and management of an efficient sewing center.

She and Miss Nistendirk will supervise the following demonstrations for study and questions:

Selection and pressing aids, selection of correct pattern for the fabric, placing of and making buttonholes— bound and machine, neck facings— continuous and plain, placing pattern on fabric (including plaids), setting in sleeves, hemming garments and inserting zippers.

New 4-H officers chosen

Plans for a new year of activities were recently completed by the Risco- New Hope 4-H Club, with meetings tentatively scheduled for each second Monday evening of the month at the community building of Farmers State Bank of Risco.

Terpsichore dancers to perform March 22-24

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- Southeast Missouri State University's performing dance group, Terpsichore (pronounced Terp- see'- cre), will present its annual spring concert March 22- 24.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. in Rose Theatre of the Language Arts Building on the campus. Admission is free and open to the public.

A variety of dances will be presented following the theme for the concert, "I See America Dancing."

Terpsichore consists of 24 members and is sponsored by the women's physical education department. The group, under the direction of Miss Patricia Murray, instructor of dance, has been choreographing the dances and rehearsing since September.

The lighting and set design for the spring concert are under the direction of Terry Woody and Miss Susan White of the Southeast Missouri State speech department.

The performers include Joyce Johnson of Chaffee and Janice Wright Margrabe of Scott City.

How to buy fish and poultry explained

By PAT GROJEAN

While facing higher food prices, consumers are continuously looking for ways to save money and still serve nutritional meals to their families.

Chicken and turkey have a large proportion of bone to lean meat, but are often bargains compared with other meats.

The type and form of poultry you buy, (for example, whole chicken versus drumsticks) determines how much you need per serving. The differences are less pronounced than with fish and meat, varying from one third to one- half pound. One exception is duck which requires more per serving.

Learning how to cut a chicken yourself will also save you money and can save as much as eight to 10 cents a pound. Cutting chicken is not that hard and doesn't take too long either.

When cooking with chicken, less expensive chicken parts can usually be substituted in recipes calling for chicken breasts or other more expensive parts.

Fish is another product that is high in nutrients and often low in price, although it has been going up recently.

Fish is also lower in fat and calories than most meats.

The form in which fish is bought determines the amount that must be bought per serving, as with chicken. For example, with fresh and frozen whole fish, three quarters to a full pound is required per serving. For breaded fish sticks or fish parts, one third pound is usually required. Of course, these figures will depend on how much your family likes fish.

Buy the unbreaded fillets and bread them yourself. This will cost less than purchasing the breaded fish parts. Canned mackeral can be used in place of more expensive salmon in casseroles or like recipes.

Using canned tuna in the cheaper forms, such as shredded tuna in casseroles, or chunk light in sandwiches or other dishes, where appearance is unimportant, can save money over using the solid white tuna.

Shelled shrimp and crab, usually costs up to one- third more per pound than unshelled, but they can be less expensive in terms of the meat you get for your money. Shrimp is one of the more expensive frozen fishes.

By following these tips on fish and chicken, a consumer can help stretch the food dollar. Money can also be saved in the purchase of breads and cereals, the next topic to be discussed.

WRONG-WAY JOYCE

NEW YORK (AP) -- One of the most dramatic moments in South Carolina's 79-69 semi-final Holiday Festival basketball game in Madison Square Garden came after the referee handed SC's Mike Joyce the ball.

Joyce was about to shoot a technical foul called against Manhattan coach Jack Powers. When he poised to shoot, teammate Mike Dunleavy all but tackled him. Joyce was aiming for the wrong basket. Olympic star Joyce went to the opposite end of the court and sank the one-pointer.

Cindy Bird

Miss Bird to attend 'Cisum'

EAST PRAIRIE-- Miss Cindy Bird has been selected to attend "Cisum," a music clinic sponsored by Cumberland Valley Girl Scout Council, In Nashville, Tenn., July 17- 30. The camp features all types of music such as classical, western and rock'n' roll.

Approximately 150 Girl Scouts from the United States will be housed at Vanderbilt University several days as guests in private homes in Nashville for the 13- day ordeal. Some will attend the Grand Ole Opry and Opryland U.S.A., visit recording sessions and view the Nashville Symphony Orchestra.

This year, Miss Bird, a member of Senior Troop No. 234, will complete her ninth year in scouting. With eight years of summer sessions at Camp Latonka, she will train for two sessions in the Counselor in Training Course program this summer. She wrote the scout song, "Why Are You Happy?"

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Bird and is a member of National Honor Society, East Prairie High School band, choir, stage band and Madrigal. She attends the United Methodist Church where she is a member of the choir and United Methodist Youth Association. Also, she is senior princess in Job's Daughters and reporter for Youth for Community Betterment.

Ann Landers

Dr. Jones sounds out on marijuana dangers

Dear Ann Landers: I recently read your inadequate response to the reader who asked, "Is there any scientific evidence that marijuana is harmful?" As a professor of medical physics and physiology at the University of California at Berkeley, may I respond to that question? Five years ago there was an absence of valid information. Today we have the results of studies and clinical evaluation.

We now know that the active ingredient in cannabis (marijuana) affects the brain. Frequent users of cannabis show a limited attention span and the ability to concentrate is sharply reduced. Many cannabis users become lethargic toward their studies, slip to a low level of motivation and the inclination to perform foolish acts rises sharply.

It is not true that marijuana smoking invariably leads to harder drugs. But heavy and frequent cannabis users DO go on to heroin more often than was previously believed. The number of heroin addicts is approximately 2 million and most of them graduated from pot. I conducted 454 interviews with heroin addicts and my findings are based on these interviews.

Cannibis users do not understand what has happened to them. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, October 2, 1972, Professors of Psychiatry Kolansky and Moore report on 13 consecutive cases of adult cannabis toxicity. All were previously well- adjusted, productive, responsible people. After daily use, all quit work, deserted families and became indolent. None could explain why. Half of these subjects recovered after total abstinence.

Those who smoke cannabis three years or longer show a poor recovery rate. After three years, daily use of cannabis in heavy doses leads to brain atrophy.

Approximately 50 per cent of the "weekend" cannabis users progress to daily use in three or four years. The daily user rarely perceives any change in himself. Those I persuaded to try the abstinence test reported a "lifting of a fog," improvement in memory and comprehension, after a month of total abstinence.

We have increasing evidence that cannabis causes defects in embryo development, broken chromosomes and mutations. All this portends some frightening prospects.

Those who say there is no proof that cannabis is harmful are reading old literature or listening to light, short- term users.--- Dr. Hardin B. Jones, Berkeley, California

Dear Dr. Jones: Thank you for your comments. And now a word from another distinguished authority, Dr. Dana Fransworth, consultant on psychiatry, Harvard School of Public Health: "One of the principal hazards to educating youth on the dangers of marijuana is the reassurance of the young experimenter who has taken drugs briefly without any apparent ill effects. He concludes that drugs are harmless if they are pure an' then says physicians, psychiatrists, parents and professional counselors don't know what they are talking about."

I am not a pharmacologist, a psychiatrist, a psychologist or a physician, but of this I am certain: Most users of marijuana --- particularly teenagers who want to expand their minds, explore the unknown, intensify their senses, or just turn on--- should be aware that pot, popping pills and needle art are extremely risky.

Whatever goes up must come down, and when you do come down, you're going to be a lot lower than you were before you started to mess with junk. So keep your head together. It's all you have.--- Ann Landers.

First Nazarene to hear evangelist

Evangelistic services will begin Tuesday night and continue through Sunday of next week at First Church of the Nazarene, 129 W. Trotter St., according to the Rev. Coy O. Presson, pastor.

Services at 7 p.m. each day will be led by the Rev. Joe Lee Tompkins of McCrory, Ark., an elder in the Church of the Nazarene with international headquarters in Kansas City.

The Rev. Mr. Tompkins is a graduate of Bethany Nazarene College at Bethany, Okla., and began his ministry while a student preaching and singing for revivals and special occasions.

Rev. Joe Lee Tompkins

He accepted his first pastorate in 1964 in Canyon, Tex., and was instrumental in organizing two new churches while pastoring in Texas and Arkansas.

In 1970 the Rev. Mr. Tompkins entered full- time evangelism.

Revival services to open Sunday

EAST PRAIRIE — Revival services Sunday through Friday of next week will highlight special emphasis on evangelism during March at Nelson Memorial United Methodist Church.

Dr. Floyd V. Brower of Sikeston, pastor of the Wyatt and Dogwood United Methodist Churches, will be the evangelist. The Rev. Dr. Brower is a former superintendent of the Poplar Bluff- Sikeston District of the United Methodist Conference.

Following a covered- dish supper at 6 p.m. Sunday, the opening revival service will begin at 7 p.m., as will all other services through Friday.

Dr. Floyd Brower

Special music for the services will be provided by the Fayette Marshall family; Doris Larkins and Virginia Sutton; John Bowen, former director of the high school choir; Phil Ross, youth minister of Charleston United Methodist Church; and the church choir.

Homecoming plans set at Little Vine Church

MATTHEWS -- Homecoming will be observed Sunday at Little Vine General Baptist Church on Route One, according to the Rev. Robert G. Cates, pastor.

Observance at the 86-year- old church will begin with Sunday School at 10 a.m., followed by the morning worship service at 11.

A fellowship dinner is scheduled at noon and will be followed at 1 p.m. by singing by the Culpeppers of Meridian, Miss., the Singing Souls, the Nelson Family and the church quartet.

Scripture: Psalm 14:2,3; Jeremiah 10:23; 17:9,10; Romans 1:28-2:1

MAN HAS GONE ASTRAY

Isaiah summed up our problem rather well when he wrote that "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way."

Several months ago as we started a new year many Americans made resolutions to become better Christians, better citizens, and better neighbors.

It isn't difficult to learn where man has gone astray. One merely needs to look about him, with a close view of his environment. He has destroyed much of the world God gave him centuries ago.

Man has gone astray in his relations with his family. He has encountered problems with his children in such areas as the drug scene.

Man has gone astray in his failure to save us from pollution. Churches today are delving into the moral implications of the factors that continue to threaten our existence.

Human life on this planet is in jeopardy. Some scientists even claim that a showdown in technology is necessary for our survival. Some humans find themselves caught up in the too rapidly advancing technical era.

The Phillips translation of Romans tells us that "I often find that I have the will to do good, but not the power." The history of human sin is the history of our refusal to acknowledge our inability to manage our own lives.

At the same time, God looks over us, providing all the help and guidance we pray for. A recent news story noted that "In a time of confusion and rapid change, we need to learn all we can about religious values and resources in the life of our people."

Some church leaders feel that religious questions should be included on the next census, since "religion is more important than bathtubs."

Such questions would seek answers to questions concerning our health, welfare, and happiness. Religious attitudes and beliefs are allied with our well-being and mental health.

Under such urgent need for answers, these church leaders feel it is no longer necessary to retain our deep-rooted conviction against asking religious questions of the general public.

God told us centuries ago that religion is concerned not only with today but with tomorrow as well. He knew our weaknesses and our inability to follow His teachings all the time.

Our realistic view of today's world must acknowledge our failure to confess our failures to follow the Scriptures.

Confessing our own mistakes is extremely difficult. We refuse to blame ourselves for our problems of inflation, ararchy, or communism. We pretend such problems are "out there," in a world apart from ours. All men, however, must accept some of the blame for today's sins.

One must realize at the same time that men often refuse to heed the warnings about God's judgments on their sins. This was reviewed in previous lessons about Jeremiah and the other prophets. They warned the people. Few persons listened.

Today's Scriptures remind us of man's failure to obey God or to honor Him. Obviously, the knowledge of punishment is not a deterrent to sin. Our crowded jails are vivid evidence of this view.

No matter how hard we try, we cannot come up with any real excuses for our failure to follow Gods' teachings.

One writer has said that there are only two kinds of people: those who practice sin, approve of it and encourage others, and those who also practice sin but criticize others for doing it.

Unfortunately, too many of us fall in the second category. And many even enjoy it.

Yet it will be more useful if we plea "God be merciful to me, sinner that I am."

GETTING READY FOR LENT

A Challenge Of Folk Religion

By REV. DAVID POLING

Each week, when Congress is in session, some 15 or 20 senators gather for breakfast and discussion. These men of different party and denominational persuasion are joined in a deep fellowship: prayer. Throughout the year they meet, with invited guests, to ponder the deep questions of life, to share insights of the Bible and consider their calling as men who believe in God.

Over the years the only non-senator present was columnist and editor David Lawrence. Close to many of the senators and concerned with the larger spiritual questions that every thoughtful person must ponder, he became a regular and faithful participant. His death will be a real loss to this vital gathering.

And so is the tragic shooting of Senator Stennis. This Southern Presbyterian is unofficial greeter of the weekly prayer breakfast that continually sends word of comfort and hope to his hospital bedside.

Another active member is Senator Mark Hatfield who addressed the national prayer breakfast in Washington a month ago. His remarks to that august group (including President Nixon, military leaders and congressmen) deserve a wide readership. And much has clear relationship to Lent and the journey of one's soul.

"Events such as this prayer breakfast contain the real danger of misplaced allegiance if not downright idolatry to the extent that they fail to distinguish between the god of civil religions and the God who reveals himself in the Holy Scriptures and in Jesus Christ. If we as leaders appeal to the god of civil religion, then our faith is in a small and exclusive deity, a loyal spiritual Advisor to power and prestige, a Defender of only the American nation, the object of a national folk religion devoid of moral content.

"But if we pray to the biblical God of justice and righteousness we fall under the God's judgment for calling upon his name, but failing to obey his commands. God in the Bible states that acceptable worship and obedience are expressed by specific acts of love and justice. We sit here today as the wealthy and the powerful. But let us not forget that those who truly follow Christ will more often find themselves not with comfortable majorities, but with miserable minorities.

"Today our prayers must begin with repentance. Individually we must seek forgiveness for the exile of love from our hearts and corporately as a people we must turn in repentance from that sin that has scarred our national soul. What is needed is a 'confessing church' — a body of people who confess Jesus as Lord and are prepared to live by their confession.

"Lives under the Lordship of Jesus Christ at this point in our history may well put us at odds with values of our society, abuses of political power and cultural conformity of our church.

"We need those who seek to honor the claims of discipleship — those who live in active obedience to the call: do not be conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewal of your mind.

Pope Paul calls world synod in '74

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has summoned the fourth world synod of Roman Catholic bishops for October, 1974.

The pontiff has assigned the synod to debate the "evangelization of the contemporary world," or the ways and means of updating the Christian religion in order to respond more closely to the expectation and needs of modern man.

The previous synods were held at two-year intervals, in 1967, 1969 and 1971. But during the 1971 synod many bishops complained that they had not had enough time for thorough study and research beforehand of the two momentous subjects then under discussion: priesthood and justice.

The synod acts as a kind of senate, discussing and voting on recommendations to submit to the pontiff. The recommendations are not binding on the Pope, but he put into practice most decisions of the past three synods.

Lent emphasis shifts

NEW YORK (AP) — The number 40 recurs like a refrain in Biblical events and it marks the length of an age-old observance that Christians began last week — the 40 days of Lent.

Nowadays, however, it has a different emphasis than it once did. Attention now is focused not so much on doing without something as on doing something in a positive sense to improve oneself and the conditions of others.

"More important than giving up something is giving something," the Rev. Dr. Albert P. Stauderman, editor of a denominational weekly, "The Lutheran," says of the general shift away from the older practices of fasting.

The new approach is pointed up in Scripture readings used in the liturgy of the period, such as in Isaiah 58, which says that rather than dietary fasting, God wants justice for the oppressed and shared bread with the hungry.

"Then...your healing shall spring up speedily....Then you shall call, and the Lord will answer."

The observance is intended for penitence from wrongdoing, for rededication and spiritual renewal as a preparation for the Easter celebration of Christ's Resurrection.

How it came to run for 40 days is not altogether clear, since it originally lasted only a day or two in the beginning years of Christianity, and later only a week.

It was lengthened to 40 days in the 5th century, and that time span now often is seen as deriving from the 40 days that Jesus fasted in the wilderness before beginning his ministry.

In the flood for which Noah built his ark, it rained for 40 days and 40 nights. The children of Israel wandered for 40 years in the wilderness. Moses spent 40 days and nights atop Mount Sinai when he received the 10 Commandments.

Forty hours elapsed from the moment Jesus died on the cross until His hour of Resurrection. The period of the Resurrection appearances lasted 40 days before Jesus ascended into the divine sphere.

The 40 days of Lent doesn't include Sundays, which were not "fast days" in the older modes of observance, when the emphasis was mainly on restricted diets and self-denial, which often took trivial forms such as foregoing sweets.

Roman Catholicism, in the changes of the mid-60s emanating from the Second Vatican Council, abolished its Lenten rules limiting eating to one full meal with meat a day, leaving it up to individuals to choose more meaningful ways of observing the period.

Episcopalians, Lutherans and other Protestants that observe Lent previously had moved away from the dietary formulas and put the emphasis on positive steps for deepening commitment and helping the needy.

Church drives for relief funds for work among the world's poor are part of the observance.

However, aside from such tangible efforts, the period also calls for inner spiritual reform, for reassessment and recommitment, for developing more regular habits of Bible study, meditation and prayer.

Services in fellowship hall

than $7,000. Currently the school systems set the salaries.

The same resolution also commended school districts which have adopted policies to allow teachers to participate in development of policies that affect teachers, such as curriculum, salary and fringe benefits. The resolution also urged duty free lunch hours and definite grievance procedures.

Another resolution, based on school finance, was divided into three sections. The first section was local support which declared the use of real and personal property taxes as the only bases for local school financial support unrealistic.

It urged the state tax commission to continue its program of equalization of tax assessments throughout the state and recommended an amendment to the Missouri Constitution to make it possible to pass school bonds and operating levies with a simple majority instead of two-thirds vote.

The second part of the resolution was on state support. It urged the legislature to seek new sources of revenue for schools that would stabilize current sources of revenue and to assume the responsibility of funding junior colleges. It also called for a junior college in the Bootheel, although no location was specified.

The third part was based on federal support. This called on the federal government to share equally the cost of education with the local and state government.

Thursday morning at the general session, three persons were honored for meritorious service to education. They were Mrs. Letty Burris of Fredericktown, a fifth grade teacher in the Farmington R-7 School District; State Sen. Nelson B. Tinnin of Hornersville, a former teacher; and Floyd E. Hamlett of Caruthersville, superintendent of the Pemiscot County R-3 School District.

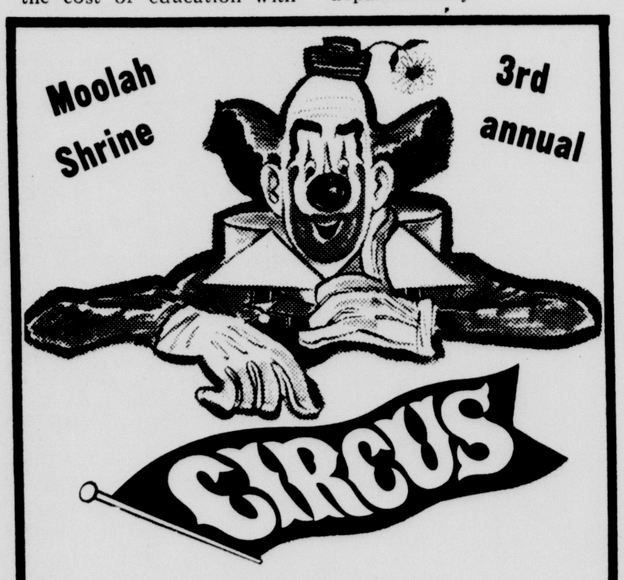

The main speaker at the general assembly was Dr. Wilson G. Riles of California, who is state superintendent of public instruction in California.

He stressed the value of adequate financial support and called upon Southeast Missouri educators to recognize that, for the most part, policies affecting education do come through political decisions.

His remarks were keyed to the topic, "Where We Are in Education," as he addressed about 3,500 teachers and administrators in Houck Field house.

"We in education tend to believe politics are dirty. But, I tell you that is where policies are made. Politics is the name of the game. We can be non-partisan, which is not only legal, but practical," he said.

Thursday afternoon four broad meetings were held for elementary, junior high, senior high teachers, and school administrators. Today's sessions were divided departmentally.

Attendance causes Dexter schools to loose money

DEXTER — A decrease in the average daily attendance is causing the Dexter School System to lose $16,500 in federal funds this year, T. S. Hill told school board members at a recent meeting.

The school system has 40 less students than last year, Hill said. He explained that most of the loss has occurred in the lower grades.

A bid for two new school buses was accepted. Each bus will cost $6,269 plus trade-in and will be delivered in August.

Hill said anyone interested in buying one of the buses being used as trade-ins should contact Watts Enterprise Co., Conway, Ark.

The contract of Asst. Supt. Carl Davis was renewed as well as those of Dexter's four school principals, John DeArman of the high school, Wilson Jarrell of junior high, Joe Gibbons of Southwest elementary and Bob Brison of Central elementary.

According to Hill, the assessed tax valuation of the district for 1972 is $12,309,496. This represents an increase of $354,280, he said.

The assessment ratio for Stoddard County, Hill continued, is 28.1 for 1972. For a school district to be able to participate in second level state aid, it must levy a tax rate of $3.50 based on a 30 per cent ratio. Therefore, Hill explained, a tax rate of $3.94 will be required for a school in Stoddard County to participate in second level state aid next year.

Bond No. 4, in amount of $45,000, was presented to the board and destroyed. The bond matured Feb. 1.

It was announced that the total number of bonds outstanding, $45,000 will mature Feb. 1, 1974. At this time, the district will be free of all bonds and indebtedness unless other bonds are approved.

Board members approved the development of a disaster plan for the Dexter- public schools as submitted by Hill, and suggested that work on the project begin immediately.

Asst. Supt. Davis was appointed chairman of the committee to develop the plan which will involve both members of the school system and community.

Six Dexter residents named to the committee include Al Banken, fire chief; Dale Pursell, civil defense; Sanders Walpole, policeman; Mrs. Barney Miller; Delmar Barks; and Jerry Grojean.

Members of the school board and school administrators will attend a joint meeting of the Southeast Missouri School Administrators Association and Southeast Missouri School Board Association March 29 in Sikeston.

Plans made for chamber dinner at East Prairie

EAST PRAIRIE — Plans are being completed this week for the annual Chamber of Commerce membership dinner meeting to be held at the community building at 7 p.m. March 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Melton head the program committee and report that they do not have a positive commitment for a guest speaker but hope to have one soon. Jack Barnhill is in charge of the food arrangements and promises a good meal.

Tickets went on sale today and will be available at Aycock's and at Hogan's Farm Supply Store. Several members of the chamber will also be carrying tickets and offering them to members.

A feature of the meeting will be the presentation of the annual "Man of the Year Award", a joint selection by the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Betterment group.

The main business item to be transacted at the meeting is the annual election of directors.

Terms are expiring for Winchester, Emory and Hogan. Three new directors will be elected.

Thieves butcher cow

EAST PRAIRIE— Story Cattle Co. has posted a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who slaughtered a Hereford cow in its pasture near East Prairie.

The nocturnal butchers visited the pasture three miles east of East Prairie either Saturday or Sunday night, killed and butchered the pregnant cow, helped themselves to the choicest portions, and left the carcass beside the road.

George and Sam Story said the remains were found Monday morning, and the sheriff's office began an investigation.

The loss was put at over $500.

they appear before the judge, this can leave them with a bad outlook toward law and order.

Moore said he didn't care where the Magistrate Court is located, but he thinks it should be given a large room.

Members of the County University of Missouri Extension Council, area home economists, area youth agents, 4-H Clubs and other group leaders who hold regular meetings in the extension center meeting room said they felt they were being moved into the street.

According to the group, some of the older women and men in the organizations would not be able to climb the steps to the third floor.

The group asked the County Court to explore any possible alternate to moving the extension center before making a decision.

The group also said that, since the present room already has kitchen facilities, they felt it would be a waste of money to be moved to the third floor and have to pay out money to have water and other facilities put in the room.

A cash register drawer containing about $3 in change and two keys were reported stolen in the breakin about 3:45 a.m.

Entry was made by breaking a window pane and reaching inside to unlatch a lock.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoots Fairless, who live near the store, reported they were awakened by the glass breaking and saw two persons come out of the store. Fairless fired two shots in the air but the burglars escaped.

New Madrid County Sheriff's deputies are investigating.

Former Bloomfield coach honored

MOBERLY, Mo. — It takes a particular blend of just the right ingredients to provide the makeup of a successful basketball coach.

He must have specific qualities which, fused together or seen alone, make him stand out as a leader, a strategist and a rare person whose mere presence draws the respect of his players and fellow coaches, as well as the fans.

It takes dedication to achieve his goals. He must be willing to spend days and hours as well as weeks and months away from home to do his job to his utmost capability.

And, last but not least, it takes a touch of modesty. You never hear the top-notch coaches such as a John Wooden or a Cotton Fitzsimmons or a Dan Devine blow their own horn.

They just go out and do their job. When the rare moments of defeat and/or disappointment do strike them, they are the first to stand up and take the blame.

But they are always ready to pass the Laurel on to their players and staff when the credit for a job well done is deservedly sent their way.

Such a man is Charles Spoonhour, former Southeast Missouri high school coach at Bloomfield.

So when the Moberly Area Junior College Basketball coach was contacted about being named region 16 coach of the year, it was expected he would pass the credit for his success on to those he had worked with all year.

"Naturally I'm elated," he said at first. "Any time you receive something like this it is a great honor." He was quick to share it with his friends, players and fellow coaches. "It took and effort by our assistant coaches (Harrison Stepter and Lee Kariker) and all the players. We had great cooperation from everyone, the people at school, just everybody."

"I think all the factors have been conducive to letting us have the good year. I've just been fortunate to be at the right place at the right time."

However, nobody will ever accuse Spoonhour of being opportunistic. "People underestimated the ability of our ballplayers," he explained, "Particularly in the case of our big men considering the way they came along this year. Vernon (Dison) came so far." "But Lee Kariker deserves the credit for that. He worked with them more than I did."

And the coach wouldn't discount the individual skills of his players. "No one coached Dennis Hill how to jump, Otis Jackson how to shoot, or Jerry Cochran how to hustle. It was just a matter of being here. I think the setting was here."

But it takes more than a proper setting to write a novel, put on a play, or have a winning basketball team.

One of the things the Moberly setting needed this past season was a man, a coach to make everything go. And Charles Spoonhour, the Rogers, Ark., native who kept everyone loose with his colloquialism, made it happen.

He convinced Jackson and Cochran to stay on Board when many others were deserting the ship. He went out and found Hill and Roger Mathes, players who were unhappy at other schools. He recruited the freshmen who were to play such vital roles in the successful Greyhound season.

And he made that season a success. His 26-9 record was the best ever for a first year coach at MAJC. And that includes the hallowed years of Maury John and Fitzsimmons, as well as his predecessor, Rich Daly.

How did he do it? By silently commanding the respect of his players. They just wanted to work hard and play hard for Spoonhour.

"I feel like with this bunch I had pretty good rapport," he said. "I liked them because of the way they worked hard and tried to do the little things. They had the proper attitude and weren't above being chewed out by me. I think we just had some players who decided they wanted to win. And that they did. The 26 victories included wins over nationally known teams such as Robert Morris (Ill.), Paducah (Ky.), Hutchinson (Kan.), and Burlington (IA.). And the last two came on the road, where the hounds lost only four regular season games.

"The way we were able to play on the road was really something," Spoonhour commented. "It was a matter of being mentally prepared." Which the coach also wanted to credit to his players.

"Jackson and Hill led the way by working hard and some of the young people who liked to play followed along. Cochran and Mathes were always ready for anything, and Sherman Curtis did so well so many times."

"I think it was an atmosphere the players created themselves. I think they wanted to show that they were better than what the people thought. These fellows just had a lot of pride." Something the Region 16 coach of the year shared with them.

Three Rivers CC seeks fifth

On Thursday, Olney blasted Bacone 88-64 and Hutchinson upended Tigerville 99-90 to advance.

Teko Wynder tallied 30 points and Rudy Jacson contributed 29 for Hutchinson. Gregg Ashorn scored 23 points and Phil Jarett added 22 for Tigerville.

Paducah's Herb Williams was deadly from the corner and wound up with 24 points. Lionel Williams hit for 30 for Dixie.

Cocoa's attack was sparked by Larry Warren's 28 points. Joe Cosey had 21 for Burlington.

Three Rivers Community College of Poplar Bluff, Mo., raced to a 45-32 first half lead over Mc Lennan College of Waco, Tex., and held on for a 100-74 decision in a losers bracket contest.

Coach Gene Bess' Raiders, who are bidding for a fifth place finish in the 16 team event, got 23 point leadership from Ron Johnson and double figure scoring from four other players on the way to recording their 27th victory in 37 games this season.

TRCC was scheduled to play South Idaho of Twin Falls at noon today. A win would push the Raiders into a battle for fifth place Saturday afternoon.

Uhls enters 14th season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I'm just sick," said Jerry Tarkanian of Long Beach State.

"I guess I've just lost the old zip," said Al McGuire of Marquette.

Both coaches weren't in the best of health after taking upsets in the NCAA basketball playoffs Thursday night.

As a matter of fact, their teams didn't look too good either. The University of San Francisco stopped Tarkanian's 49ers 77-67 in the West Regional semifinals and Marquette suffered a 75-69 loss to underdog Indiana in the Mideast.

San Francisco thus earned a short at defending national champion UCLA in West finals tomorrow. The top-ranked Bruins won their semifinal test with a 98-81 triumph over outgunned Arizona State.

Indiana's triumph set up a Mideast final with Kentucky, which trimmed Austin Peay 106-100 in overtime in the other semifinal game Thursday night.

Maryland and Providence moved up with triumphs in East Regional semis and Memphis State and Kansas State did the same in the Midwest.

Maryland drubbed Syracuse 91-75 and Providence turned back Penn 87-65. Memphis State crushed South Carolina 90-76 and Kansas State upended Southwestern Louisiana 66-63

Mike Quick who scored 25 points to pace USF's stunner over third-ranked Long Beach, predicted a knockout of UCLA in the West championship game.

"We are confident we can beat UCLA if we play together as a team," said Quick.

"Indiana was the better ballclub tonight. They beat us on the boards and they had us in foul trouble in both halves. They were well coached and never lost their poise.

"I didn't do a good coaching job. I wasn't quick. Maybe I just lost the old zip tonight. That happens sometimes."

Downing poured in 29 points as the Hoosiers rallied from a 10-point deficit with 14 minutes left in the game. Ritter delivered some clutch points in the stretch that sewed up the game up for Knight's boys.

UCLA, meanwhile, charged to a 51-37 halftime lead over Arizona State behind Larry Hollyfield's 18 points and breezed to its 72nd straight triumph.

Kansas State used an effective slow-down game and the outside shooting of Ernie Kushnyer and Lon Krueger to defeat Southwestern Louisiana. Larry Kenon's 34 points powered Memphis State past South Carolina.

Maryland staggered Syracuse with 12 straight points early in the second half and went on to an easy victory over the shorter Orangemen. Providence hammered Penn's Ivy Leaguers as Marvin Barnes scored 20 points and Ernie DiGregorio and Nehru King 18 each.

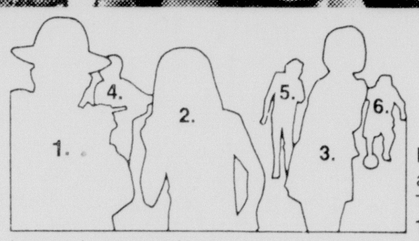

In the NCAA College Division tourney at Evansville, Ind., Kentucky State edged Brockport 96-90 and Tennessee State blasted Assumption 106-76 to advance to Friday night's finals.

In the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics quarter-finals at Kansas City, Maryland-Eastern Shore beat New Orleans Xavier 87-80; Slippery Rock defeated Wisconsin-Green Bay 60-58; Guilford, N.C., edged Westmont, Calif. 70-67 and Augustana, Ill., whipped Oklahoma Baptist 63-46.

Can you spot the Camel Filters smoker?

In this picture everybody has a gimmick... almost everybody. Try picking the one who doesn't go along. 1. Not him. He's Lance Boyle. His gimmick: brags about wars he was never in. Yells "bombs away" each time he knocks the ash off his oval French cigarette. 2. Nope. He's Harvey Dibble. Runs "Harve's Health Food Haven," specializing in organically grown dried prunes. Sneaks a hamburger when he can get away with it. Gimmick: smokes wheat germ cigarettes. Thinks it helps business. 3. Eunice Trace, Starlet. Her gimmick: restoring wholesome entertainment to movies. (Her latest film was reviewed: "At last—a movie the entire family can walk out on.") 4. Smokey Stanhope, accountant. His gimmick: a guitar. Thinks it makes him irresistible to the opposite sex. Unfortunately makes the mistake of playing it. 5. Right! He's just himself. And he sees through all the gimmicks. That's why he smokes an honest, no-nonsense cigarette. Camel Filters. Easy and good tasting. Made from fine tobacco. 6. Cracks his knuckles a lot and calls himself "Killer" (real name: Morris Friedfogel). Gimmick: spends weekends trying to get someone to play soccer with him. When he puffs out his chest, his pants fall down.

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Unproven pitching and hitting cast shadows of doubt over the Southeast Missouri State University baseball camp, as Joe Uhls enters his 14th campaign as the Indian diamond chief.

Missing from the Tribe roster are four key players from last season -- two top pitchers and the team's top two batters.

Gone from the pitching staff are Mike Payne, who wound up his senior year with a 5-1 record and an ERA of 1.88, and his brother Jerry, who had a 2-2 mark in 1972 as a junior. Jerry had been counted on by Coach Uhls as a mainstay of the mound staff this season, but he did not return to school.

Also departed are first baseman Mark Drury and outfielder Ron Auer who had respective batting averages of .397 and .377. Drury led the team in RBI's, and Auer was the Tribe's home run king.

The Indians, according to Coach Uhls, have only one experienced pitcher and no .300 hitters returning this season.

The experienced hurler is Galen McSpadden, a junior southpaw from Puxico who has earned two varsity letters. McSpadden had a 3-3 record last year in 37 innings, had 33 strikeouts, and recorded a 3.13 ERA.

Three other pitchers also return from the '72 squad, but only one can boast of as many as 14 innings of collegiate experience. They are Steve Elfrank, a junior from Festus who compiled a 0-2 record; Charles Powell, a senior from Crystal City who earned a win in two decisions; and Mike Raley, a Festus sophomore who had no record.

Vickery was on the Indian roster as a freshman, but did not go out for the team last season.

In the outfield the Tribe is blessed with two players who saw a lot of action last season in starting roles.

Steve Yount, a three- year letterman from Leadwood, is hoping to bounce back from a disappointing .222 season at the plate. Also looking for more success with the bat this year is Ron Kelam, a St. Louis senior, who hit only .156 in 45 at bats last season.

A third returning outfielder is John Paskus, a senior from Madison, Ill., who saw limited action last season but hit .417 in a dozen appearances at the plate.

There are plenty of contenders for infield positions at Southeast Missouri State, but all but four are new to the squad.

The four are Jim Erlacker, a junior from Perryville, who appeared in 18 games last season but had a terrible batting average; Jeff Landgraf, a senior from Jackson, who had 13 appearances and a .200 average; Mike Dambach of Ellbourn, who got into eight games, and Mike Howe of Cape Girardeau, who played in three contests.

Landgraf will probably start at shortstop, while Dambach and Howe are battling for the third base position. Landgraf will be challenged at short by Erlacker, who can also play second. However, the likely starter at second is Gary Wengert, a transfer from Benedictine College. The St. Marys native is also listed as a catcher.

Barry Stahl, a versatile athlete from Ellsinore, is a top prospect for the starting job at first base. Stahl, a transfer from Three Rivers Junior College in Poplar Bluff and just back from two years in the armed forces, can also play the outfield or pitch, if necessary, according to Coach Uhls.

Other infield candidates are Lee Warren, a transfer from the University of Missouri -- St. Louis, Scott Davis, a transfer from Peru, Neb., and John Johnson, a freshman from Lutesville.

Returning behind the plate for 1973 is Cape Girardeau junior Terry Kitchen, who hit .241 last season. Also regarded as a good first baseman, Kitchen will get some catching help from Gary Sutton, a junior from Imperial. Sutton is a transfer from Arkansas Tech.

At this point Uhls simply says he is "hopeful" that his pitching staff and hitters will come through, but the Indian chief is somewhat encouraged because "the weather has been real good so far, and we have been outside in practice more at this date than at anytime I've been here."

The Tribe was scheduled to open the season Wednesday (March 14) with a double- header at Centenary College in Shreveport, La. Two games at Ouachita Baptist in Arkadelphia, Ark., were scheduled Thrusday (March 15). A single game with Christian Brothers College in Memphis is on tap for Friday and the Indians meet Memphis State university in another single outing on Saturday.

Southeast Missouri State will open its home season March 23 with a 1 p.m. doubleheader against Luther College. This will be followed March 24 with another home twinbill against Christian Brothers College of Memphis, also at 1 p.m.

Last season the Indians notched an 11-10 overall record and went 6-4 in the MIAA.

Assisting Uhls with the coaching chores this spring are John Wilson, who played third base for the Tribe last year, and Norm Van Amburg, who coached at several area high schools before returning to Southeast Missouri State to work on his master's degree.

Blake signs with Mizzou

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Pete Blake, an all- state wide receiver from Hazelwood, Mo., has signed a Big Eight football letter- of- intent with the University of Missouri, Coach Al Onofrio said today.

The gifted 180- pounder, who scored 16 touchdowns for Hazelwood's state 4A co- champions, was named prep "Player of the Year" by the St. Louis Globe- Democrat.

The speedy six- footer was a gifted running back and pass- catcher for Coach Bob Stouffer's Hawks. He netted 727 rushing yards on 104 rushes -- and ran for seven touchdowns. He caught 40 passes for 846 yards, nine of these for touchdowns.

Besides winning all- state, all metro and all- conference recognition, Blake was selected on the scholastic all- America prep football squad.

Blake is the 25th player, signed to a Big Eight commitment, announced by the Tigers.

Mizzou returns to NIT

COLUMBIA, Mo— Missouri takes a rugged- and-ready basketball team back to New York this weekend for another whirl in the National Invitation Tournament field.

Coach Norm Stewart's Tigers (21- 5) play the University of Massachusetts (19— 6) in a first- round game Saturday night at 6:35 p.m. CST. Neither Mizzou nor the Redmen have survived opening round action in previous NIT appearances.

Last year, OL' Mizzou was ousted from its first venture in the NIT, losing an 82- 81 overtime battle to St. John's. The Massachusetts entry twice was eliminated by the eventual tourney champion in first- round play.

In 1970, Marquette sent UMass back to Amherst, 62- 55. The next year, North Carolina bounced them out, 90- 49.

Though he pegs Minnesota as the pre-tournament favorite "because of its strong rating," Tiger Coach Stewart adds:

"In tournament play, any ball- club that's playing well and consistently can win it. We're going up there to win. Our concentration or motivation should be better. Since we are returning to New York, the tournament this time should be more significant to us than any of the sidelights."

Curiously enough, Ol' Mizzou opened this campaign with a 12- game winning streak-- while Massachusetts won the last 12 games on its schedule. That UMass string started with a 76- 71 win over Holy Cross at Springfield-- the only common foe for both rivals.

Missouri returns to Madison Square Garden with three of the starters who opened against St. John's a year ago. They are the Tigers' 1- 2- 3 scorers-- John Brown (20.4 avg.), Al Eberhard (17.3), and Mike Jeffries (9.8).

Brown at 6- 7 and the aggressive Eberhard at 6- 5 also were the Big Eight team's 1- 2 rebounders. They made the all- conference first team, with Brown-- the school's all- time scoring king-- landing a second team berth on the Sporting News all- America squad.

Jeffries (6- 3) played in the front- court for Missouri as a junior, but switched to guard this year. Senior Ory Salmon (6- 0) and sophomore Felix Jerman (6- 5) round out the tipoff five.

"The overall size matchup is pretty equal," he says. "Their scoring shows that they play with a team concept-- and they have used about nine men over the season who have played considerably."

Al Skinner, a 6- 3 junior from West Hemstead, N.Y., is the Redmen's top scorer with a 15.1- point average. Curiously, the No. 2 scorer for UMass-- sophomore John Murphy-- currently is riding the bench with an 11.9 average. Similarly, Tom McLaughlin-- No. 4 scorer at 9.7-- is in reserve.

The reason is that Leaman has not altered his starting alignment during the winning streak. Along with Skinner, who also has averaged 9 rebounds a game to lead in that specialty, Tom Austin (6.2 avg.), Charlie Peters (5.5), Rick Pitino (4.1) and Bill Endicott (10.2) compose the starting crew.

Austin at 6- 9, and Peters at 6- 7 will join with Skinner to challenged Missouri's board- hawking trio of Brown, Eberhard and Jerman.

Ol' Mizzou, which climbed as high as fifth in the early- season national ratings, was lodged at No. 15 in the final Associated Press poll.

Winner of the Mizzou-Massachusetts game will meet the winner of the Oral Roberts- North Carolina contest Tuesday night.

Massachusetts (19- 6)	Pos.
Al Skinner (6- 3)	F
Tom Austin (6- 9)	F
Charlie Peters (6- 7)	C
Rick Pitino (6- 0)	G
Bill Endicott (6- 2)	G
Missouri (21- 5)
Felix Jerman (6- 5)	F
Al Eberhard (6- 5)	F
John Brown (6- 7)	C
Orv Salmon (6- 0)	G
Mike Jeffries (6- 3)	G

Brown named to Star teams

COLUMBIA, Mo., — Mizzou's John Brown will be playing in two post- season all- star games following his windup competition for the Tigers in the 1973 National Invitation Tournament.

The 6-7 alltime scoring king at Mizzou will be on the West squad in the nationally- televised East-West game at Dayton, Ohio on March 31.

Then he will fly directly to Hawaii for the Aloha Classic on April 5-6-7.

Dan Devine inducted

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Wisconsin- born Dan Devine, who won national prominence during 13 head- coaching seasons at the University fo Missouri before returning to his native state as Green Bay Packer coach and general manager, will be inducted into Missouri's Sports Hall of Fame here next month.

The awards dinner, normally held each autumn following a Tiger football game, will be shifted this year to Saturday, April 28, so that Devine can be present for the ceremonies.

The dinner will follow Mizzou's final spring intrasquad football game -- and will be held in the Dianiel Boone City- County building (formerly the Daniel Boone hotel). A reception will start at 5 p.m., with the dinner set for 6:30.

Tickets are $5.50 each and may be obtained by sending a check to Don Faurot, Hearnes Building, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo. 65201.

Devine fashioned a won- lost record of 76.7 percent at Mizzou during the decade of the 60's -- and his Tiger teams won four of six bowl games. At Missouri he compiled a 93-37-7 record from 1958-70. During this span, Bengal football teams were ranked nine times among the nation's top twenty powers.

Prior to taking the Missouri job, Devine was head football coach for three years at Arizona State in Tempe.

Drummer is more than meets the eye

By MARY NOLEN

When playing music professionally becomes your main goal in life, what should you do? For Stephen Richard Berryman, 25, a native of Kansas City, it meant leaving Rockhurst College in Kansas City where he taught music and karate and studied psychology to join a musical group known as "The Chasers Fore", playing nightly at Ramada Inn through Saturday.

Berryman has played drums for the band for about a year. He also plays the trombone, saxophone and xylophone, instruments he learned to play on his own.

In his spare time, Berryman has written several songs for the band to perform and hopes they will be singing some of them before long.

He was born and reared in Cameron. After graduation from Cameron High School, he entered the Navy and, for two and a half years, was a Navy musician, playing in California and overseas. After leaving the Navy and spending some time in Flordia, Berryman went to Kansas City to attend Rockhurst college and played part time at a pizza place on Saturday nights and in a ballroom on Sundays.

While attending college Berryman conducted music classes and taught the Rockhurst College band, doing most of the writing and arranging. During his second year of teaching, Berryman received a call from "The Chasers Fore" that they needed a drummer for their band. After deciding the musical experience would outweigh anything the college would be able to offer, Berryman joined the group.

Since joining the group, Berryman says he feels he has made 100 per cent progress in the field of music.

When asked who his favorite musician is, Berryman replied, "Buddy Rich has been my idol for a long time, since he too plays the drums."

Since arriving in Sikeston, Berryman said he thinks most of the people prefer music acceptable for dancing. Although the group's reception in Sikeston has been good, he feels the best response was received in Flint, Mich. "We made a lot of friends there", Berryman said.

On the average the band remains in one place for a period of only two weeks. Berryman said he occasionally gets tired of being on the road so much, but, generally, he enjoys being able to travel around and see places he ordinarily would not be able to see.

Berryman has no immediate plans to leave the band or give up music and he hopes to continue playing the drums for several years.

He said he wants to learn how to play the guitar, trumpet and, in general, all of the instruments used in the band.

Although he hasn't really decided what he will do after he leaves the band, he said there may be a possibility of returning to teaching but that he would like to go into studio playing and songwriting.

Berryman, who originally planned to become a doctor, studied psychology while in college and to an extent, continues to do so on his own. "Although I really wanted to do this, I always seem to come back to music," Berryman said.

Often while traveling Berryman will teach the basic techniques of karate to anyone interested in learning. He holds a second degree black belt.

Although he is not partial to small towns, Berryman says he thinks the people of Sikeston are friendly.

The other four members of the five- piece band are Sharon Andrea, Richard Launstein, George Gilbert and Winston Higham, all of St. Louis.

Rex changes films

The management of Malco Theatres apparently will comply with a request from Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore that it not show two movies scheduled to start tonight at Rex Theatre in Sikeston.

"Tobacco Roody" and "Southern Comforts" will be replaced with two R rated films "Cindy and Donna" and "Fountain of Love," according to the management.

Moore said the two movies originally scheduled had received considerable notoriety in Southeast Missouri and the showing of "Tobacco Roody" had previously been stopped in Sikeston.

Inviting a burglar

A common practice among homeowners is to leave an extra key outside the house, hidden under the doormat or in a flowerpot. Police say its one of worst mistakes you can make. If you can hide a key, a burglar can find it.

(Daily Standard photo)

By RON PORTER

The burglary business is booming with over two million burglaries committed annually nationwide. Burglars, who strike somewhere every 15 seconds, take an average of $310 per job, or a total of $620 million per year.

In Sikeston last year, 105 burglaries were committed, costing their victims a total of $32,550.

The victims often make it easy for burglars to work. They leave doors and windows unlocked, or take a vacation and fail to stop newspaper and milk deliveries. They don't cooperate with police by reporting the losses quickly, and they can't describe their own stolen merchandise. Neighbors and passersby lack concern or interest in what is going on at the empty house.

Sikeston police have issued a list of things the homeowner, apartment dweller or vacationer can do to reduce the risks of burglary.

Among things suggested are: Change locks on the doors when you move into a previously occupied building. You have no way of knowing who might have keys to your door.

Don't hide your key outside the door, under the doormat, or in the flower pot. If you can hide it, a burglar can find it. If you want an extra key nearby, leave one with a trusted neighbor.

Use auxiliary deadbolt locks on all exterior doors. Spring latch locks of the kind which snap shut when you close the door are easily opened by burglars.

Don't let strangers into your home. Ask for identification. People on legitimate business will be glad to show it.

Report broken street lights in your neighborhood. Street lights take away a burglar's hiding place and discourage him.

Don't leave the house and car keys together with attendants at public parking lots or service stations. Your house keys can be quickly duplicated and your address obtained from license plate records.

Don't give information to strangers on the telephone. On wrong numbers, don't tell the caller your number. Report continued wrong number calls to the telephone company and police department.

Use metal grill work on glass in entrance doors and decorative side- glass to prevent burglars from breaking the glass and reaching inside to open the door.

Report to police any strangers loitering in your neighborhood, or people asking strange or vague questions about your neighbors and their whereabouts.

Store ladders and other items inside. Don't let them lay around outside. If you can't put them away, lock them up.

If you see someone in your neighbor's yard, don't be afraid to check the identity with your neighbor by phone.

Close your garage door. If it's open and empty, it's an invitation.

Lock all doors and windows at night. Patio doors can be secured easily by putting a strip of wood into the inside track preventing the sliding door from opening.

Leave several lights burning in different parts of the house when you go out. Have the yard lighted, too.

Vary your routine. If you follow the same routine each week, a would- be burglar could watch your movements and know when your house is likely to be empty.

For apartment dwellers, police suggest:

Single women should not put their full name on the mail box. Their first and middle initial should be used instead of Miss or Mrs.

Keep outer doors locked. Don't let anyone in unless you're sure of their identity.

Keep as few valuables as possible in your apartment. Money, jewelery , furs, etc., are safer in a safety deposit box or vault than in the apartment.

Get references for maids, cleaning women, etc., who may have to work inside your apartment while you are away.

For vacationers, police suggest:

Make provisions to keep you lawn mowed in the summer and the sidewalks shoveled in the winter while you are away.

Move valuables from in front of windows so they can't be seen from outside. Make a list of valuables so you will know if they are missing when you return.

Arrange inspection by a trusted neighbor if you will be gone more than a few days to be sure nothing has been disturbed.

Don't close the blinds, pull down the shades or do other things that advertise that the house is empty.

Use an automatic clock timer of photo-electric relay to turn lights on and off, giving the house an occupied look. Have a neighbor alter the lighting pattern part way through your absence.

In case of a break- in, a neighbor should know where to reach you and your insurance agent and should give this information to the police.

What do you do if you think your home has been entered? Go to another phone and call police. Don't touch anything in your home. Leave everything exactly as you find it, so evidence will not be destroyed.

Citizens oppose effort to move extension center

BENTON — A group of concerned citizens met with the Scott County Court Thursday to voice opposition to the moving of the University of Missouri Extension Center meeting room from the second floor to the third floor of the courthouse and replacing it with the Magistrate Courtroom.

Second District Judge Louie Hirschowitz said a lot of false rumors have been going around concerning the possibility of moving the extension center. He said the court has not made a decision and is willing to listen to both sides. He also said the court would make the best possible decision without any influence from anyone.

Hirschowitz said he had received several phone calls from citizens who had the false impression that the extension center would be moved completely out of the courthouse. He said the report is not true and, if the court decides to move the Magistrate Court to the meeting room, another room on the third floor would be made available for the extension center.

Judge Lloyd Briggs said the grand jury report stated the Magistrate Court should be located on the second floor since this is basically where most court procedures are handled and, in his opinion, the extension center meeting room would be the only suitable place.

Presiding Judge Les Lankford expressed his opinion in favor of moving the Magistrate Court to the County Courtroom. Although Judge Briggs and Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore expressed opposition to Magistrate Court being moved to the County Court room, Lankford said he thought there would be plenty of room for the court and, with some remodeling, the room could be a workable solution.

Moore said that, although the County Court room could possibly handle the two courts, he himself could not see how.

Moore said one of the first impressions made upon young offenders is the atmosphere of the courtroom and, if they are afraid when

Viet Cong release 32 more POWs

CLARK AIR BASE, Philippines (AP) — The Viet Cong released 32 more American prisoners of war today, and the senior officer in the group thanked President Nixon for ordering the bombing of Hanoi and Haiphong last December.

Air Force Col. Theodore W. Guy of Tucson, Ariz., told a welcoming crowd at Clark Air Base he has no doubts that the heavy bombing of North Vietnam's two main cities helped hasten the end of the war.

"We are gratful that we had a President that made those decisions," said Guy, 43. He was captured when his Phantom fighter-bomber was downed during a strike mission over Laos on March 22, 1968.

"Dignity, honor and love of country are three things that most of us treasured and thought of for many years," Guy said. "On behalf of the men in this group, I would like to thank the President of the United States, Mr. Nixon, for bringing us home with this dignity and honor."

His words were in sharp contrast to antiwar and antimilitary statements attributed to a dozen of the men in the group by Communist broadcasts since 1968. However, all came off the plane smartly, saluted the colors and were cheered by the crowd.

A U.S. Air Force hospital plane brought Guy, 26 other military prisoners and five civilians from Hanoi. At Clark Air Base they joined 108 POWs released by North Vietnam on Wednesday and two Vietnam war fliers freed by Communist China Thursday.

The men freed Wednesday will begin leaving for the United States Saturday, and most of the 142 freed this week are expected to be home early next week.

Others freed today included the POW held longest in Vietnam, Maj. Floyd J. Thompson, 39, of Hudson, Mass., who was captured on March 26, 1964, and Philip W. Manhard, 51, of the State Department, the senior U.S. civilian captured during the war.

3 juveniles held as theft suspects

CHARLESTON-- Three juveniles— two 16- year olds and one 15- year old— all of Oak Lawn, Ill., are being held for investigation of car theft and possession of marijuana by Juvenile Officer Gordon Galemore.

The three were arrested about 6 a.m. today on Byrd Avenue in Charleston by Asst. Police Chief Spencer Presson.

The car, a station wagon reportedly stolen from the Chicago area, ran out of gas, and the three were apparently attempting to steal gasoline when police were called. A set of license plates belonging to Johnny Joyner of Charleston were reportedly found on the car.

Search under way for jail escapee

BLOOMFIELD — Tommy Everett Jones, 25, of Dexter is being sought by authorities after escaping from the Stoddard County jail about 7:30 p.m. Thursday. He reportedly escaped through a basement door and climbed over a fence.

He was being held on charges of burglary, stealing, destruction of personal property non support and felonious escape. Jones had also escaped from the jail with four other men on Feb. 23. The men were captured the same day in and near Dexter.

According to the highway patrol Jones is five feet six inches tall, weighs 150 pounds, has brown eyes and black hair and a fair complextion. He has a tatoo on his right arm.

Jones is believed to have stolen a car belonging to Anthony DeLay of Bloomfield. The car was stolen between 7 and 8 p.m. Thursday in Bloomfield. The Dexter City Police recovered the car at 8:15 p.m. abandoned west of the Weber Rambler Co. near Mulberry St.

Beating suspect bound to circuit

NEW MADRID — Johnny Nelson of Portageville was bound over Thursday to Circuit Court under $500 bond on felonious assault charge. He waived preliminary hearing before Judge Leo Hedgepeth.

Nelson is charged with severly beating Isabell Jelks Monday at her home at Froggy Bottoms near Portageville. She is in Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

Nelson, who is under 10 year probation for murder in the shotgun death of Nathaniel Banks in July of 1969, was taken into custody Tuesday by parole officer Gary Miller and Police Chief Joe Moore.

Finally, a dry spot

If you people think you have it bad, you ought to be in my spot. I'm a snapping turtle, and I live in a lot of water most of the time anyway and I like it but this is just ridiculous! I mean, there's that crazy river on one side that's climbing high enough to nearly drown me and on the other side, the weathermen won't stop all this dumb rain long enough for me to find a shallow place in a field to relax. Man, at least you people have this nice high levee road to dry out on for a few minutes. It's almost worth ducking all the cars.

SeMo teachers elect officers

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Mrs. Frances Phillips of Dexter was elected first vice president and Charles Robert Depro of Sikeston was elected second vice president of the Southeast Missouri Teachers Association Wednesday night.

Both will serve with Mrs. Wanda McAnally of Kennett, who will become president at the end of the teachers convention now in session at Southeast Missouri State University.

Miss Jeannette Haubold, an education specialist at the Learning Improvement Center of the New Madrid County R-1 enlarged school district, was elected to the executive committee.

Mrs. Phillips will automatically become president in 1974, after serving as first vice president this year. Mrs. McAnally, a teacher at Kennett High School, has served as first vice president under Mrs. Opal Wright of Farmington.

The elections took place at the Assembly of Delegates meeting Wednesday night in Rose Theater at SeMo State University. The convention opened Thursday and will close today.

Mrs. Phillips is a fifth grade teacher at Central School and president of the Dexter Community Teachers Association.

She is a graduate of Dexter High School and attended Southeast Baptist College in Bolivar and Southeast Missouri State University. She holds bachelor of science and master of arts degrees in elementary education and has completed additional graduate work in elementary guidance.

Frances Phillips

Bob Depro

In 17 years as a classroom teacher, she has worked in the community teachers organization and served on various committees for the Missouri State Teachers Association and the State Department of Education.

Depro, a geography and sociology teacher at Sikeston High School, was nominated from the floor and defeated George W. Landrum of Fredericktown who had been put up by the nominating committee. Depro has been teaching in Sikeston for seven years and was president of the Sikeston Community Teachers Association in 1971. In November 1972, he was named outstanding educator in the field of geography for 1972 by the Missouri State Teachers Association.

Several resolutions were passed at the delegates meeting Wednesday night. The resolutions give the officers a tool to lobby with.

POOR CHARLIE SAYS!

We are all apt to sympathize with ourselves more than with other people.

* * *

WE'RE STILL GROWING!

In spite of a great deal of talk these days about birth control, population growth restrictions and fertility level reductions, the United States of America continues to grow like Topsy. Statistics just released by the U. S. Census Bureau report that as of March 1, 1973 we have surpassed the two hundred and ten million figure by 380,316 souls.

This is somewhat startling to learn, in view of the fact that as of the 1970 census, U. S. population numbered a little less than 205 million. This means that our population increase alone, in the past three years, is equal to more than the entire U. S. population in 1800. Indeed, even by the year 1880, we still had only fifty million people in what was then 47 States. Or, to make another comparison, we have doubled our population since 1920. It took us 300 years to reach the first 105 million; only 53 years for the second.

In the last year, since March 1, 1972, we have added more people than the entire population of Detroit. Indeed from Feb. 1 to March 1 of this year, we grew by 84,522.

That is a lot more mouths to feed, bodies to clothe, and - in time - families to house. And what happens when all of them reach the age to drive their own cars? It boggles the mind!

After a man has saved his money and built a house larger than his family needs, his relatives begin to punish him. NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions:

Some philosophers fear we are witnessing a reversal of sex roles in our society. Little girls are behaving like tomboys and their mothers like tom-men as women in general attempt to act more like men. Men, too, are beginning to return the compliment by acting more like women.

The interchange has gone so far that in some marriages it is the husband who is the better cook and the wife who knows more about baseball. One of the problems the whole question raises is what will our next generation of young males be like? Will they take the trend even further, and become the first generation of tomgirls in our national history?

Somehow the idea of being safeguarded by an army whose men do crocheting while on sentry duty doesn't appeal to me.

The human conscience works in odd ways. I have had a lifelong aversion to eating lamb ever since at the age of five I drew a picture of a lamb which the kindergarten teacher praised as the best ever drawn by a student in her classes.

That flattery made it impossible for me ever again to eat lamb knowingly and enjoy it. It offended my conscience to do so. I suspect, however, that had I drawn the worst picture of a lamb made by any member of the class, today I could relish lamb by the heaping plateful.

Red-haired omen are less likely to get fat than blondes or brunettes. Why? Why, for the same reason that red-haired girls are more interesting to men than are blondes or brunettes. They have a quicker metabolism.

(Editor's note: Boyle has been crazy about red-haired girls ever since he was jilted by the one who drew the second-best picture of a lamb in his kindergarten class.)

If you ever felt sorry for onelegged men because you felt their disability was a handicap in their romantic life, forget it. Such men often say that instead of repelling women, it is irrestistibly attractive to many women. One explained: "The only way I can figure it out is that they are simply overwhelmed by curiosity over what you will do with the store leg when the moment of truth comes."

The saddest criticism I know of life in America is this: More people you meet can reminisce with gladness about details of their childhood than can recall with fondness what has happened to them since they grew up.

The energy crisis is much in the news today. In an effort to conserve energy, the President's Office of Emergency Preparedness (OEP) is appealing to U.S. citizens to practice conservation both at home and work in the use of electricity and heat.

America now consumes about 29 per cent of its energy in industry, 25 per cent in transportation, including getting back and forth to work, 21 per cent for residential and commercial purposes, and 25 per cent for utilities.

But the nation can keep warm, get to work, and keep industry humming with much less energy than is now being used, according to the OEP. "Save energy, and you save money!" is the OEP slogan.

And OEP offers some tips on how you can help conserve fuel and electric energy at home, on the road, and on the job as follows:

Weatherstrip and caulk around windows and doors. Properly applied, this can keep out cold air and seal in warm air so effectively that your family's heating bill can be cut 15 to 30 per cent.

Install storm windows or insulated glass to cut in half the heat that is needlessly lost through the windows in your house.

Increase insulation in attics and walls when possible.

Install wood sash windows whenever possible. Wood is a poor conductor of heat and moisture and therefore an excellent natural insulator.

Keep your heating and air conditioning equipment in top operating efficiency. Vacuum dust and lint from air intake registers. Replace furnace air filters every two to four months or when they become loaded with dust or lint.

In homes without storm windows, close curtains at night. This results in some deflection of drafts and more comfort. A little heat may also be saved.

Turn off electric lights, TV, radio and other electric utilities when they are not needed. Every kilowatt- hour saved is a benefit to you and the nation.

Repair leaking water faucts. A leak of one drop per second adds up to about 650 gallons per year. A leak that fills an ordinary cup in 10 minutes wastes 3,280 gallons per year. If this is heated water, the loss is very expensive.

Lower the thermostate setting in your house at night. By reducing the thermostate setting four degrees for eight hours each night, a savings of $1.80 on a $60 monthly heating bill can be achieved.

If you live in a metropolitan area, consider riding a bus rather than a car. It takes up to five times as much energy to get a person from home to work in an auto than it does by bus. The auto, with less than 10 per cent energy fuel- use efficiency, is an expensive consumer of energy.

Many of the same points mentioned in the foregoing to conserve heat loss in winter also apply to air conditioning savings in the summer.

Remember, when you conserve fuel and energy, you help yourself, your community and your country.

A STORY WITH A MORAL

Two news releases from the Pacific Northwest carry a story and a moral. One dealth with the announcement of the federal government's Bonneville Power Administration that curtailment of power deliveries to industries in the region would be continued. The other release told of a local investor - owned power company moving ahead with construction of a nuclear power plant that would bolster the sagging Northwest power supply in four years.

The significant part about the latter release is that the power company is gambling millions of dollars on preliminary construction work while licensing of the project by government authorities remains held up in the usual tangle of hearings and controversy. The invester - owned company faces a grim choice of "playing it safe" by waiting until the last regulatory signature is on the dotted line at the risk of a resulting power shortage or of starting work at the risk of losing its investment if the blessing from on high doesn't come through. It has chosen the latter course.

This the story. The moral is that the investor - owned company, as a private enterprise, exists for but one purpose -- to serve its customers and the well- being of the region in which it operates. Unless it can do this, the justification for its existence as a private enterprise is lost. Science and experience have shown that nuclear energy is the safest and most practicable answer to tomorrow's energy needs. Therefore, the company feels obliged to go ahead with its nuclear plower plant. It has faith that common sense will dictate official approval of the plant in due time. A government agency is driven by no such single-minded compulsion. It can move only as rapidly as the ponderous process of a centralized bureaucracy permits it to move. Sometimes that is too little and too late.

JOINING THE WAR ON DRUG ABUSE

Among the first to praise Congress and the Administration for an enactment of one of the most comprehensive drug abuse and control laws in the nation's history was a spokesman for the U. S. pharmaceutical industry. The president of the Pharmaceutical Manufacutrers Association, Mr. C. Joseph Stetler, speaking on behalf of 124 companies that manufacture 95 per cent of all U. S. prescription medicines declared that, "Drug abuse has become a frightening problem for millions of Americans. It is absolutely proper for the federal government to exercise this type of aggressive leadership to stem the use of physically and psychologically damaging illicit substances, to control the misuse of legitimate medicines produced for the health and welfare of citizens, and to support rehabilitative needs for victims of the drug problem."

However, the drug industry spokesman went on to say that it would be a "mistake" to believe the federal program represented a total solution. "It will take the combined efforts of government, the pharmaceutical industry, the health, education and law enforcement communities, and responsible citizenship and parenthood to assure success," he added. In addition to cooperating in enforcement of the new act, the drug industry is pursuing new programs designed to maximize security in plants and in those parts of the distribution system subject to company control. Further, the Association has a program of drug abuse activities that includes the development and promotion with the American School Health Association of a curriculum guide being used by teachers of grades kindergarten through 12.

The business of the prescription drug industry is to save lives. It is a powerful ally of government and the public in the grim task of bringing drug abuse under control.

SITTING TOO CLOSE

A young wife just learning to drive had succeeded in completely snarling traffic. Excitedly she turned to her husband and asked what to do.

"I don't know," he replied calmly, "but I'm sure if you climb into the back seat you can figure it out."

"You know there are only two things that can help you in the face of trouble -- one is insurance and one is luck. I hope you are going to be lucky so let me give you this rabbit's foot."

"Remember. It didn't help the rabbit."

ETERNAL OPTIMISTS

Hope springs eternal they say. Those may not be the exact words of the ancient expression, but they at least serve to illuminate the deep-running strain of optimism that keeps American businessmen going despite the odds. A recent survey of U. S. executives shows that most of them, although concerned about inflation and the state of the economy, are convinced their own firms will continue to prosper.

What is there for a businessman to do but plan to move ahead? It is as instinctive as breathing. After all, people have to eat, they have to live and, in spite of all the fine spun theories, they will continue to work to achieve these ends. And, the businessman will continue in one way or another to strive to fulfill peoples' wants for jobs, for goods and services and for new opportunities. Many businesses will fail, but businessmen will continue to dream and plan for the future. That is the way the nation was built and that is the way it will conquer its problems and become greater in the years ahead.

THREE COMPANIES FUND NEW PROJECT TO MAKE COAL-GAS

Over $5 million is being invested by three companies to commerce the design of commerical plants which would convert coal into pollution - free gas and symthetic crude oil.

Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, Tennessee Gas Pipe Line Company, a Division of Tenneco, Inc. and FMC Corporation have agreed to construct a pilot gasification plan to demonstrate the process feasibility of a commercial sized plant.

The three companies issued the following statement: "The nation's need for substantially increased supplies of clean energy can be met through research and development that will permit utilization of America's vast coal resources in an environmentally acceptable manner."

The companies anticipate results within 18 to 24 months. The degree of success obtained will determine whether a commercial coal conversion plant will be undertaken late in this decade.

DOWN-UNDER EXPERT GIVES URBAN COSTS 2ND AND 3RD LOOK

Few city administrations have been as successful as New Haven, Conn., in obtaining funds from Federal government programs for urban reform, Donald A. Kemp writes in the Institute of Public Affairs Review, Melbourne, Australia. "Where New York has struggled to get $50 per capita from the Federal government, New Haven has obtained more than $400 per capita," he says.

Yet, Mr. Kemp asserts, "despite these huge funds, not only has New Haven many problems yet unsolved, but it would scarcely have been feasible to have provided other cities of similar size with funds on a comparable scale.

"To have done so would probably cost something on the order of $150 billion." Mr. Kemp's conclusion was that, "Nothing could illustrate more vividly the limitations of wealth alone in the solution of social problems."

INCREASING COMMUNIST INFLUENCE IN CARIBBEAN

The Caribbean Sea is of vital strategic importance to the United States. The communists are well aware of this fact and are gaining increasing influence throughout the area.

In an article in the Detroit News, Colonel Robert Heinl, Jr. recently discussed this growing threat. Colonel Heinl gave three reasons for the strategic significance of the Caribbean: Raw materials imported from Latin America must move through this sea; the Panama Canal provides a link between the East and West Coasts of our country; and our Gulf Coast states would be in easy reach of any hostile power which controlled the Caribbean.

Within the last few months, four Caribbean members of the Organization of American States, Jamaica, Trinidad-Tobago, Barbados and Guyana, established diplomatic relations with Cuba, in spite of U.S. efforts to prevent the move. Haiti is thought likely to follow the same course soon, since Port- au- Prince's semi-official newspaper, Le Nouveau Monde, is urging recognition of Castro's government.

Panama is becoming increasingly hostile to the United States and friendly to communist nations. Recently, Panamanian dictator Omar Torrijos Herrera described the Cuban missile blockade of 1962 as "ridiculous and unilateral." During the past several months, Cuba and Panama have exchanged delegations of athletes, journalists and culture-merchants.

If the Soviets are able to set up bases in these countries, major U.S cities, such as Houston, Atlanta and New Orleans, will be seriously threatened. Our government should move not to encourage the extending of diplomatic recognition to Cuba. HLH

Inside Labor

Lady Gets Tough:
Strikeless Society Can Rescue America and Millions of Jobs

By Victor Riesel

NEW YORK-- Blondie is furious. No tantrum. Justifiable anger. And when she takes time out of her battle for more money, dignity and coverage for topless and bottomless acts, she's truly motivated.

For Blondie is Penny Singleton, executive president of the American Guild of Variety Artists (AGVA) (AFL— CIO). Thus she's America's only female national union chief. Her union of variety artists (vaudevillians and night club entertainers) is hard hit. She calls the nation's entertainment industry "a disaster area." Glamor, yes; groceries, no.

So president Singleton is battling imports in her field. Imports of acts, special acts too; eight men transvestite groups or one singer and four models. Even circus people from behind the Iron Curtain.

Penny is the prettiest labor leader I know. And one of the toughest-- what with being the daughter of a typographer. She has an import problem. But she has muscle. Other labor leaders, the biggest, the toughest, the men with the hardest political clout, have import problems too. But Penny has some federal laws on her side when she wants to shut the docks and airports to competing foreign acts.

The arrangement is for the Immigration and Naturalization Service (INS) to clear with the Variety Artists and with the Hollywood- New York based Screen Actors Guild (SAG) (AFL— CIO) on the admission of "acts" seeking work here.

Penny and leaders of the talent craft can veto what's called H- 2 performers-- run-of- the- mill grind type. H- 1 are the rare specialists, the Sir John Gielguds, and the unions can't veto them.

But when the Australian Actors and Announcers Equity Assn. (a union) writes Penny, as its president did the other day, that American radio, television and stage performers are not welcome to work down under, she can turn to the INS.

So she has some control over "imports" which threaten her people, many of whom have been jobless for some time. But there is little the men of Steel and auto and electronics can do when imports wipe out their members' jobs-- little except to exhort the American worker on to superior quality production and swifter productivity.

There appears to be no other answer. Talking recently with such men as Murray Finley, president of the men's clothing workers union, and Lou Stulberg, leader of the ladies' garment workers union, and some of their colleagues, I got the feeling whole sections of their industries will just fade away. How can our shops compete with the 10 cents an hour rate in the latest production sector, Jakarta, capital of Indonesia? How can they compete with the 25 cents a day of Ceylon?

How can they compete with Singapore? It's no longer the island city of "Come Home Bill Bailey" and pukka sahib. It's a labor city- state politically and industrially. Its Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew is a Socialist. But Singapore newspapers tell the world of workers' tranquility and of productivity and manufacturing facilities. Recently, one manufacturer sent 60 men to train in New England for ball- bearing production. They returned to compete with our people.

Recently, I.W. Abel, president of the Steelworkers, reported that some 18 million tons of steel had been imported into the U.S. last year-- costing America 105,000 full- time jobs.

Slowly imports are eating into the auto industry. In 1972 Americans bought 1.6 million foreign- made autos. Even the Soviets are about to enter the field with their four models of a car called Lada (made by Italy's Fiat people in Russia).

Just the other day Abel, head of the AFL— CIO's Industrial Union Dept., said that:

"Because of world marketing changes there has been a massive assault on American industries and jobs. For example, nine out of ten radios sold in the U.S. are made abroad; one of six cars; seven of ten sweaters; 19 of 20 motorcycles, one of two nails, and nine of 10 baseball gloves. We import 100 per cent of our 35 mm cameras, 96 per cent of our magnetic tape recorders, 70 per cent of our portable typewriters and over 50 per cent of our black and white television sets."

What's the answer? In any era, but especially in the meteoric flare of food prices, folks will go for the lowest price.

Perhaps the answer is in what just happened in the railroad field-- a contract settlement more than three months in advance of expiration. True, the settlement came because the 14 national unions feared bankruptcy of their pension system by 1984, but the leaders did sign-- and the unions' favorite work rules are not disturbed.

And such men as Abe Abel appear to want to settle the steel contracts perhaps a year in advance. The answer must be in a strikeless society-- and quality in product and productivity.

Otherwise many an industry will be a disaster area sooner or later. And it's later than you think.

Washington Merry - Go - Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
Expect Whalley Indictment Soon

WASHINGTON-- Aging, ailing former Rep. J. Irving Whalley, a one- time United Nations delegate, may soon be prosecuted by the Justice Department for taking kickbacks from his employes.

That is the firm recommendation of the United States attorney in Pittsburgh to Attorney General Richard Kleindienst following more than a year of investigation by the FBI.

Whalley, a conservative Pennsylvania Republican, named by President Nixon as a delegate to the U.N. in 1969, was a high- ranking member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee and a prominent banker and churchman in Windber, Pa.

Behind this front of impeccable respectability, however, he chiseled his employes for nickels, dimes and dollars from their House salaries to meet his personal and campaign costs.

On September 27, 1971, we began a series of five articles on the eccentric millionaire which led to the FBI probe and caused Whalley to give up plans for a seventh congressional term.

A few weeks ago, Pittsburgh's U.S. Attorney Richard Thornburgh, himself a Republican, assessed the huge documentation amassed by the FBI in Pennsylvania and Washington and sent his recommendation to the Justice Department.

Variety Of Charges

In his memo, Thornburgh suggested the case "go forward" against the backwoods Bobby Baker. Thornburgh recommends prosecution of Whalley on a variety of kickback charges.

But to get a federal grand jury into action, Thornburgh will need the personal approval of Kleindienst who, ironically, was once stoutly defended by Whalley.

Whalley's friends on Capitol Hill are not optimistic that Kleindienst will return the courtesy. They point out that nothing would help take the sting out of the Watergate case like the indictment of a prominent Republican by the Nixon Administration.

Whalley, now 70 years old, ill with chronic heart and arthritic problems, no longer useful to his party, is just the sort of gray- fleeced sacrificial lamb that the Justice Department needs. A decision by the Administration is expected shortly.

Reached in Pittsburgh, U.S. Attorney Thornburgh declined any comment. Whalley, who has consistently denied all wrongdoing, reitereated from Windber that he was innocent of any violations.

Sugarcoated Danger

One of America's major pharmaceutical firms has sugar-coated the bitter dangers of a fast- selling drug it is promoting for Mexican children. Such concealment is against the law in the United States.

Indeed, when Sterling Drug's Winthrop Laboratories peddles "Winstrol" in the United States, it carefully warns that the drug should be used only for a rare blood disease, a bone disease of the aged, and dwarfism. Sterling's ads in the United States honestly advise doctors that "Winstrol" can atrophy the testicles of boys, deform the genitals of girls, and stunt the growth of both. It also may cause female baldness and deepending of young girls' voices.

But Sterling is not bound by U.S. law in Mexico. Reporters for "The Medical Letter," a nonprofit magazine, discovered a two- page ad from Sterling's foreign division depicting a healthy young boy of about seven. The ad recommends he be given "Winstrol Compound" (the same drug with vitamins and iron) "if he complains of poor appetite, fatigue or weight loss."

There is no warning in the ad to Mexican doctors that their young patients may suffer genital damage and other dire effects and that long dosage of "Winstrol Compound" increases the chances of these disasters.

Sterling's medical director, Dr. Monroe Trout, said the ad had been discontinued, that it complied with Mexican law and that warnings were available to doctors in other literature on "Winstrol Compound."

When we asked him whether there was a moral responsibility to give doctors of Mexican children the same warnings given doctors of American children, Dr. Trout replied, "I don't think there is a moral question."

Capitol Crimes

Congressional secretaries have long been afraid of walking on the Capitol grounds after dark because of the danger of assaults. Now, some are worried about assaults inside the Capitol buildings in the daytime hours.

One female employe was recently roughed up on the fifth floor of the Cannon House office building. Another was accosted in the same area by a man spewing obscenities, but she escaped.

While Capitol police search for the intruders, some congressmen have come up with their own solution. They want to install buzzers connected to police rooms in all out- of- the- way areas where female staffers must work.

Hearing set for pair charged with burglary

BLOOMFIELD-- Richard McMullin, 23, of Essex and Edward Mark Graham, 19, of Clarkton had their preliminary hearings set for March 22, by Magistrate Judge Koss W. Blomeyer Thursday.

The two are charged with the attempted burglary of Dr. T.L. Waddle's office at 25 South Locust Street in Dexter on Tuesday night. The pair was caught in the act of breaking a window by Dexter City Policeman David Townsend. Bond was set at $2,000 for McMullin. No bond was set for Graham, who is also wanted in New Madrid County for parole violation.

David Allen Duckworth, 22, of Dexter, charged with the burglary and stealing of a rifle, $35 in cash and drugs valued at $100 from the office of Dr. T.L. Waddle in Dexter on Feb. 18, had his preliminary hearing set for March 22.

James Robert Gadis, 17, of Matthews had his preliminary hearing set for March 22. He is charged with parole violation from New Madrid County. Gadis is also charged with two counts of tampering with a motor vehicle and felonious escape from the Stoddard County Jail. Gadis and four other subjects made their escape on Feb. 23 at approximately 10:20 p.m. by prying away a bar and climbing through a window on the south side of the jail. All five were recaptured that same night in or near Dexter.

Jessie Barron of Essex, charged with stealing 7 watches from Wal- Mart on Feb. 22 valued at more than $50, had his preliminary set for March 22. Bond was set at $1,000.

Lewis Edward Robertson of Malden waived his preliminary hearing on charges of leaving the scene of an accident. He will appear in Circuit Court at a later date to be set.

Johnnie Wayne Fry of Dexter pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while his license was revoked. He was fined $10 court costs , and given a 30 day jail sentence. Judge Blomeyer permitted a one week stay of the jail sentence for Fry to pay the fine and costs.

Terry D. Blocker and Richard Allen Woolard, both of Dexter, pleaded guilty to possession of an intoxicating liquor and were fined $50 each and court costs. Blocker was also charged with two counts of defacing mailboxes by writing obscene words on them. He pleaded guilty to the charge in October of last year, along with Wollard, who was placed on probation and parole at that time. Blocker was placed on probation for six months by Judge Blomeyer in court Thursday.

Gene R. Worley of Dexter pleaded guilty to two counts of driving while his driving license were suspended. He was fined $25, court costs and received a 30 day suspended jail sentence.

Loyd Lester Hale of Illmo pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding a 25 mile limit on his vehicle. He was fined $10 and costs.

Otis E. Hessling of Dexter pleaded guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving and was fined $15 and court costs.

Calvin Noel Murphy of Bernie was fined $27, court costs and given a 15 day suspended jail sentence, after pleading guilty to a charge of speeding.

Earl Ray Hopkins of Bloomfield pleaded guilty to the charge of careless and imprudent driving and causing an accident. He was fined $15 and court costs.

Elva Jean Bell of Bell City, pleaded guilty to failing to transfer her vehicle license. Her fine was $10 and court costs.

Larry Charles Saudlin of Broseley pleaded guilty to a charge of riding his motorcycle without a helmet and was fined $10 and costs.

Ronald Neal Woods of Fort Meyer, Fla. entered a written plea of guilty to a charge of having expired trailer license. His fine was set at $14 and court costs.

Howard Bartlett of Dexter pleaded guilty to the charge of having expired trailer license. He was fined $5 and costs.

Paul Dean Hayes of St. Louis pleaded guilty to a charge of careless and imprudent driving and was fined $10 and court costs.

Donald Lee Burch pleaded guilty to a charge of having defective brakes and was fined $10 and costs.

Larry Glen Pratt pleaded guilty to a charge of having no operators license and was fined $5 and costs.

Robert R. Barber charged with having no hunting permit pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and costs.

Wilford Charles Urhahn of Benton pleaded guilty to a charge of being overweight on his vehicle. He was fined $235 and costs.

Charles G. Stroud, Harrol Dewain Lutes and Daniel Wayne Marshall all pleaded guilty to charges of fishing without a permit and were fined $5 each and court costs.

Four pleaded guilty to the charge of speeding and paid fines and court costs. They were: James Marvin McCanne of Essex, $22; Charles Larry Dover, $13; Jayme Dorene Stewart of Sikeston, $12 and Guy Bollinger of Malden, $24.

8 treated

Eight accident patients were treated Thursday in the emergency room of Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Damage by beavers checked by agents

Mounting concern over damage caused by beavers was responsible for a visit to Scott County by conservation agents Bob Smith of Bolivar and Ron McNealy of Peck Ranch, west of Van Buren.

Arthur Bernard of Benton, county conservation agent, took the men to areas where the beavers have been working. Bernard said the beaver problems are being caused in a ditch northwest of Vanduser between town and Baseline Road and in a ditch southwest of Blodgett. There are eight to 10 beavers in each location.

None of the animals were seen during the visit since the beaver is a nocturnal animal which does most of its work during darkness.

"Unless the problems get worse, we will wait until next winter when the animals can be trapped during season," Bernard said.

A beaver pelt is worth $5 to $10 to fur buyers, if the fur is in good condition.

Traffic cases make heavy load for City Court session

Other cases disposed of by the court:

Willa Beatrice Shipman, of Dexter, careless and imprudent driving, $19; Clifford LaPlant, 31 Green Meadows, careless and imprudent driving, $15; Wanda S. Leonard, 519 Malcolm, no city sticker, $11.

William H. Jones of Route two, no city sticker, dismissed; Maggie Lee Howard of Foute One, speeding, $24; Wendell Joel Luna of Sikeston, peace disturbance, $35, second count of peace disturbance dismissed; Bessie M. Harrison of 929 Hawthorne, careless and imprudent driving, dismissed.

Deloris June Tarrants of Morehouse, careless and imprudent driving, $19; Arthur Garfield Frederick of Poplar Bluff, peace disturbance and public intoxication, dismissed; James E. Dodd of Oran, peace disturbance, $35; Oscar J. Badart, 1906 Ables, public intoxication, forfeited bond of $19.

James R. Phillips of 241 E. Kathleen, public intoxication, forfeited bond of $19; Enoch Simmons of 1917 North Street, disorderly conduct, $35; public intoxication, case to be heard March 21.

Rudulop E. Pearcy of Bloomfield, careless and imprudent driving, $12; Michael David Shell of 619 W. Kathleen, public intoxication, forfeited bond of $19, Joe McCord of 33 Green Meadows, allowing dog to run loose. dismissed.

David G. Bowman of 221 Kramer, careless and imprudent driving, dismissed on court costs; Glen R. Brown of 240 Harry, careless and imprudent driving, forfeited bond of $30; Harold Ray Miller of Matthews, peace disturbance, $25.

Joseph William Burton of Oran, public intoxication, $19; Cecil H. Crowden of Russell's Point, Ohio, careless and imprudent driving, $19; Joe Nabors, 109 Luther , peace disturbance, $35; Arthur Gene Tidwell of Route three, speeding, $25.

Willie (Sonny) Cook of East Prairie, public intoxication, $25; Leon Chapman of 800 Courtney, careless and imprudent driving, $19, L.V. Riney of 901 Marsh, careless and imprudent driving, $19; Linnie Delmar McVay of 1610 W. Kathleen, careless and imprudent driving, $60, improper exhaust, $19 and no city sticker, $11; Dudley D. Thompson of 313 Broadway, careless and imprudent driving, $25.

Two injured in accidents

Two persons were injured in two area traffic accidents Thursday, according to the highway patrol.

Jacqueline Marie Reddatz of Des Arch received head cuts at 9:30 a.m. on Route V in Pilot Knob when the car in which she was riding ran into the rear of a car driven by Benjamin W. Olive, 53, of Farmington which had slowed for a right turn.

Mrs. Reddatz was taken to St. Mary's Hospital in Ironton. The driver, Eugene Reddatz, 30, of Des Arc, was not injured.

An accident at 2:50 p.m. two and one- half miles south of Holcomb on Highway 25 resulted in injuries to Jeffrey Dean Acord, 2, of Dexter.

The accident occurred when a car driven by Harvey George Hensley of Tallapoosa was struck from behind by a car driven by Jerry Dean Acord, 20, of Dexter. Acord attempted to stop but was unable to due to wet pavement.

The child was treated and released from Dunklin County Hospital in Kennett.

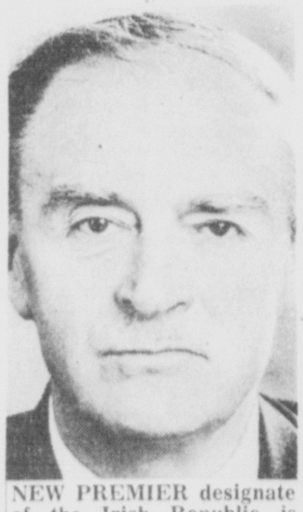

Sikeston contractor arraigned on charges

NEW MADRID — William C. Suchman, a Sikeston building contractor, was placed under bonds totaling $30,000 when he was arraigned Thursday on three felony charges in Magistrate Court.

Suchman is charged with issuing an insufficient funds check of $4,700 to Al Hendricks Plumbing Co. for work and materials in the construction of Sam's Big Star Superamrket on Route U.

He is also charged with fraudulently forging a waiver and release of lien from Steward Steel Supply of Sikeston in the amount of $4,308.69 to Sam Purser, and forging the signature of T. C. Holshouser, secretary-treasurer of Casten Masonry Sales of Cape Girardeau to a release of lien in the amount of $2,044.72 and collecting the money from Purser.

MSTA booted from NEA

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri State Teachers Association (MTSA) has been kicked out of the National Education Association because the Missouri group did not force its members to become members of three teacher groups, MSTA officials said.

The NEA has adopted a unification rule whereby all members must also belong to a local and state group. Members of the Missouri state organization have repeatedly voted against the mandatory membership in three groups — local, state and national.

The 55,000-member MSTA had been warned by the NEA executive committee that disaffiliation would occur.

Several meetings have been held on the problem in Washington and Los Angeles. The word on disaffiliation came from Washington, officials of the Columbia-based MSTA said.

Last November, the MSTA Assembly of Delegates, comprised of 1,750 teachers and administrators, voted overwhelmingly, for the 12th time, against unification.

The number of teachers belonging to the national association has declined from 29,000 four years ago to 13,000 now.

"Severance of the affiliate status with NEA in no way limits or inhibits local associations and the MSTA in remaining an organization to which all educators may belong," said MSTA Executive Secretary Thomas Penn.

He said disaffiliation came as no surprise.

The NEA membership dues cost $25 a year. The MSTA charges $16 a year.

One must learn to love brothers and sisters

by SHAREN K. HUNT
Area Home Economist

Brothers and sisters don't choose each other. They're thrown together by chance, regardless of their differences in age, sex and temperament.

The attachment of parent to child has deep roots in biology. But the bond between brothers and sisters or siblings doesn't have any "natural roots".

From the first they have reason to regard each other as rivals for Mom and Dad's attention, and what they believe is a limited supply of love.

Jealousy occurs in any situation that appears to -- or actually does -- mean we've been left out. In family life, this may mean affection, attention, toys, certain foods, or special trips.

One of the most common times is the arrival of a new brother and sister. The olderchild feels angry and fearful toward his parents who let someone take his place as baby of the family.

Going to school is hard when they know the new family member is home alone with his mother. The baby seems to be a wedge between he and his parents and he resents it.

But youngsters "aren't supposed" to show anger and hostility to parents or siblings. What's the sense of telling children that they must love each other or at least go through the motions, when they don't even like each other?

What it means is that the child, anxious to keep his parents' love, will hide and suppress his hostility or jealousy. Pangs of guilt and fear result and that's not a good feeling for anyone.

Just because children are different and just because they seem to be competitors for the same benefits, the results of good fellowship learned in the home prepares them for the art of living.

Few of us can really live until we learn to get along with others very different from outselves.

Home can be an effective proving ground if children are allowed to express all their feelings — negative and positive, and then learn to enjoy each other's differences.

SeMo Band concert is Tuesday

GIDEON — The annual spring concert festival of Division Two of the Southeast Missouri Band Association will be presented in the high school gymnasium on Tuesday at 7 p.m.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM ELIMINATED

SKEGNESS, England (AP) — Reginald Barnard and his wife, Hilda, solved the problem of holiday traffic jams by packing five suitcases into their car and driving 150 yards — to their favorite hotel for a week's vacation. "There's no pleasure driving on the roads these days," Barnard said. "This way we will not be tired after our drive home."

State math meet set

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The president of the Mathematical Association of America will be one of the principal speakers when the annual meeting of the Missouri Section of MAA is held March 23-24 on the Southeast Missouri State University campus.

Prof. R. P. Boas, president of MAA and chairman of the mathematics department at Northwestern University, will address approximately 100 Missouri mathematicians expected to gather for the conference at 9 a.m. March 24.

An address by Shirley Hill, a professor at the University of Missouri - Kansas City and member of the board of governors at MAA, and a business session are also scheduled for the second day of the meeting.

The business session will include a report on a mathematics contest conducted in high schools by the association. Participants will also consider a proposal to establish a visiting lecturer program in Missouri high schools.

Dr. Harold Hager, professor of mathematics at Southeast Missouri State, is chairman of the Missouri Section of MAA. He said the section has not met in Cape Girardeau since 1957.

The meeting will open at 1 p.m. March 23 with registration. All sessions will be held in the Rose Theatre of the Language Arts Building except for the banquet on the first evening which will be in Memorial Hall on the campus.

Banquet speaker will be Franz E. Hohn, professor and associate dean of the graduate college at University of Illinosi.

The Friday afternoon session will include the presentation of six scholarly papers, one of them by a Southeast Missouri State University faculty member.

Dr. Leon Palmer, associate professor of mathematics, will deliver a paper on "What is a non-Archimedean Field."

According to Dr. Hager, the MAA is a national organization of persons interested in mathematics at the collegiate level. Current membership is more than 18,500, about 330 of whom reside in Missouri.

Object of the association, Dr. Hager said, is to promote the interests of mathematics, especially in the collegiate field. One of the principal ways in which this is done is through meetings at which scholarly papers are presented and discussed.

Are you a fabric hound? Are you one of many women unable to pass a fabric shop or department store without stopping to buy just three or four more yards? Do you already have an assortment of fabric lengths stored away to make a whole new wardrobe when you have conquered specific phases of clothing construction and management?

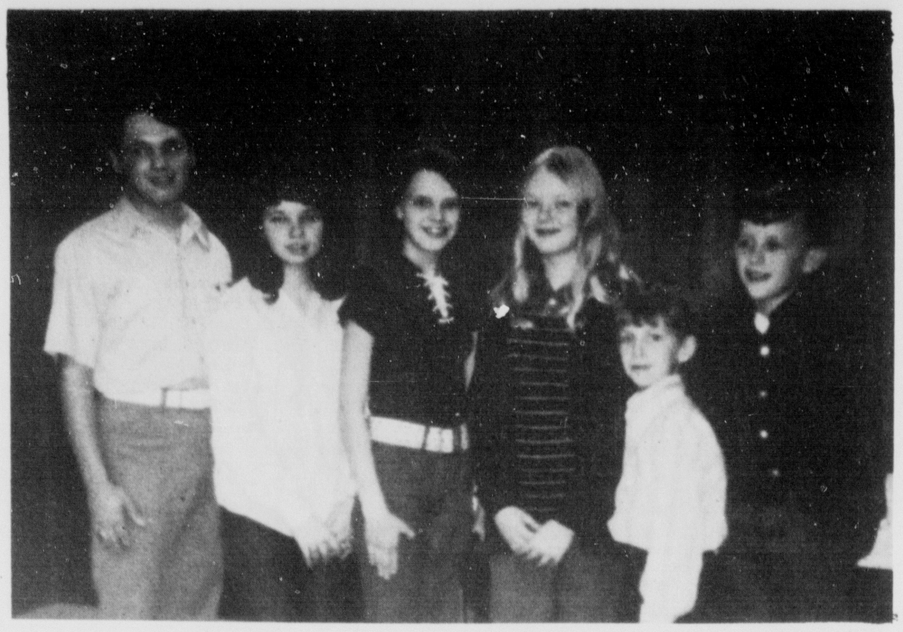

Miss Virginia Twitty, area home economist- home management, in collaboration with Miss Rebecca Nistendirk, area clothing and textile specialist, have arranged a sewing in the round experience in seminar form scheduled for one day only on the following dates: March 27 at Delta Center in Portageville; March 29 at the Christian Church in Malden; and March 30 in the Kennett United Methodist Church.

Setting the stage for the seminar will be Miss Twitty's explanation of the importance of sewing center management. She will stress planning and selection of equipment including the importance of choosing a pattern and fabric suitable to one's abilities.

Included in Miss Twitty's information will be the arrangement and management of an efficient sewing center.

She and Miss Nistendirk will supervise the following demonstrations for study and questions:

Selection and pressing aids, selection of correct pattern for the fabric, placing of and making buttonholes—bound and machine, neck facings— continuous and plain, placing pattern on fabric (including plaids), setting in sleeves, hemming garments and inserting zippers.

New 4-H officers chosen

Plans for a new year of activities were recently completed by the Risco- New Hope 4-H Club, with meetings tentatively scheduled for each second Monday evening of the month at the community building of Farmers State Bank of Risco.

CAPE GIRARDEAU-- Southeast Missouri State University's performing dance group, Terpsichore (pronounced Terp- see'- cre), will present its annual spring concert March 22- 24.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. in Rose Theatre of the Language Arts Building on the campus. Admission is free and open to the public.

A variety of dances will be presented following the theme for the concert, "I See America Dancing."

Terpsichore consists of 24 members and is sponsored by the women's physical education department. The group, under the direction of Miss Patricia Murray, instructor of dance, has been choreographing the dances and rehearsing since September.

The lighting and set design for the spring concert are under the direction of Terry Woody and Miss Susan White of the Southeast Missouri State speech department.

How to buy fish and poultry explained

By PAT GROJEAN

While facing higher food prices, consumers are continuously looking for ways to save money and still serve nutritional meals to their families.

Chicken and turkey have a large proportion of bone to lean meat, but are often bargains compared with other meats.

The type and form of poultry you buy, (for example, whole chicken versus drumsticks) determines how much you need per serving. The differences are less pronounced than with fish and meat, varying from one third to one- half pound. One exception is duck which requires more per serving.

Learning how to cut a chicken yourself will also save you money and can save as much as eight to 10 cents a pound. Cutting chicken is not that hard and doesn't take too long either.

When cooking with chicken, less expensive chicken parts can usually be substituted in recipes calling for chicken breasts or other more expensive parts.

Fish is another product that is high in nutrients and often low in price, although it has been going up recently.

Fish is also lower in fat and calories than most meats.

The form in which fish is bought determines the amount that must be bought per serving, as with chicken. For example, with fresh and frozen whole fish, three quarters to a full pound is required per serving. For breaded fish sticks or fish parts, one third pound is usually required. Of course, these figures will depend on how much your family likes fish.

Buy the unbreaded fillets and bread them yourself. This will cost less than purchasing the breaded fish parts. Canned mackeral can be used in place of more expensive salmon in casseroles or like recipes.

Using canned tuna in the cheaper forms, such as shredded tuna in casseroles, or chunk light in sandwiches or other dishes, where appearance is unimportant, can save money over using the solid white tuna.

Shelled shrimp and crab, usually costs up to one- third more per pound than unshelled, but they can be less expensive in terms of the meat you get for your money. Shrimp is one of the more expensive frozen fishes.

By following these tips on fish and chicken, a consumer can help stretch the food dollar. Money can also be saved in the purchase of breads and cereals, the next topic to be discussed.

WRONG-WAY JOYCE

NEW YORK (AP) -- One of the most dramatic moments in South Carolina's 79-69 semi-final Holiday Festival basketball game in Madison Square Garden came after the referee handed SC's Mike Joyce the ball.

Joyce was about to shoot a technical foul called against Manhattan coach Jack Powers. When he poised to shoot, teammate Mike Dunleavy all but tackled him. Joyce was aiming for the wrong basket. Olympic star Joyce went to the opposite end of the court and sank the one-pointer.

Cindy Bird

Miss Bird to attend 'Cisum'

EAST PRAIRIE-- Miss Cindy Bird has been selected to attend "Cisum," a music clinic sponsored by Cumberland Valley Girl Scout Council, In Nashville, Tenn., July 17- 30. The camp features all types of music such as classical, western and rock'n' roll.

Approximately 150 Girl Scouts from the United States will be housed at Vanderbilt University several days as guests in private homes in Nashville for the 13- day ordeal. Some will attend the Grand Ole Opry and Opryland U.S.A., visit recording sessions and view the Nashville Symphony Orchestra.

This year, Miss Bird, a member of Senior Troop No. 234, will complete her ninth year in scouting. With eight years of summer sessions at Camp Latonka, she will train for two sessions in the Counselor in Training Course program this summer. She wrote the scout song, "Why Are You Happy?"

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Bird and is a member of National Honor Society, East Prairie High School band, choir, stage band and Madrigal. She attends the United Methodist Church where she is a member of the choir and United Methodist Youth Association. Also, she is senior princess in Job's Daughters and reporter for Youth for Community Betterment.

Ann Landers

Dr. Jones sounds out on marijuana dangers

Dear Ann Landers: I recently read your inadequate response to the reader who asked, "Is there any scientific evidence that marijuana is harmful?" As a professor of medical physics and physiology at the University of California at Berkeley, may I respond to that question? Five years ago there was an absence of valid information. Today we have the results of studies and clinical evaluation.

We now know that the active ingredient in cannabis (marijuana) affects the brain. Frequent users of cannabis show a limited attention span and the ability to concentrate is sharply reduced. Many cannabis users become lethargic toward their studies, slip to a low level of motivation and the inclination to perform foolish acts rises sharply.

It is not true that marijuana smoking invariably leads to harder drugs. But heavy and frequent cannabis users DO go on to heroin more often than was previously believed. The number of heroin addicts is approximately 2 million and most of them graduated from pot. I conducted 454 interviews with heroin addicts and my findings are based on these interviews.

Cannibis users do not understand what has happened to them. In the Journal of the American Medical Association, October 2, 1972, Professors of Psychiatry Kolansky and Moore report on 13 consecutive cases of adult cannabis toxicity. All were previously well- adjusted, productive, responsible people. After daily use, all quit work, deserted families and became indolent. None could explain why. Half of these subjects recovered after total abstinence.

Those who smoke cannabis three years or longer show a poor recovery rate. After three years, daily use of cannabis in heavy doses leads to brain atrophy.

Approximately 50 per cent of the "weekend" cannabis users progress to daily use in three or four years. The daily user rarely perceives any change in himself. Those I persuaded to try the abstinence test reported a "lifting of a fog," improvement in memory and comprehension, after a month of total abstinence.

We have increasing evidence that cannabis causes defects in embryo development, broken chromosomes and mutations. All this portends some frightening prospects.

Those who say there is no proof that cannabis is harmful are reading old literature or listening to light, short- term users.--- Dr. Hardin B. Jones, Berkeley, California

Dear Dr. Jones: Thank you for your comments. And now a word from another distinguished authority, Dr. Dana Fransworth, consultant on psychiatry, Harvard School of Public Health: "One of the principal hazards to educating youth on the dangers of marijuana is the reassurance of the young experimenter who has taken drugs briefly without any apparent ill effects. He concludes that drugs are harmless if they are pure an' then says physicians, psychiatrists, parents and professional counselors don't know what they are talking about."

I am not a pharmacologist, a psychiatrist, a psychologist or a physician, but of this I am certain: Most users of marijuana --- particularly teenagers who want to expand their minds, explore the unknown, intensify their senses, or just turn on--- should be aware that pot, popping pills and needle art are extremely risky.

Whatever goes up must come down, and when you do come down, you're going to be a lot lower than you were before you started to mess with junk. So keep your head together. It's all you have.--- Ann Landers.

First Nazarene to hear evangelist

Evangelistic services will begin Tuesday night and continue through Sunday of next week at First Church of the Nazarene, 129 W. Trotter St., according to the Rev. Coy O. Presson, pastor.

Services at 7 p.m. each day will be led by the Rev. Joe Lee Tompkins of McCrory, Ark., an elder in the Church of the Nazarene with international headquarters in Kansas City.

The Rev. Mr. Tompkins is a graduate of Bethany Nazarene College at Bethany, Okla., and began his ministry while a student preaching and singing for revivals and special occasions.

He accepted his first pastorate in 1964 in Canyon, Tex., and was instrumental in organizing two new churches while pastoring in Texas and Arkansas.

Rev. Joe Lee Tompkins

In 1970 the Rev. Mr. Tompkins entered full- time evangelism.

Revival services to open Sunday

EAST PRAIRIE — Revival services Sunday through Friday of next week will highlight special emphasis on evangelism during March at Nelson Memorial United Methodist Church.

Dr. Floyd V. Brower of Sikeston, pastor of the Wyatt and Dogwood United Methodist Churches, will be the evangelist. The Rev. Dr. Brower is a former superintendent of the Poplar Bluff- Sikeston District of the United Methodist Conference.

Following a covered- dish supper at 6 p.m. Sunday, the opening revival service will begin at 7 p.m., as will all other services through Friday.

Special music for the services will be provided by the Fayette Marshall family; Doris Larkins and Virginia Sutton; John Bowen, former director of the high school choir; Phil Ross, youth minister of Charleston United Methodist Church; and the church choir.

Homecoming plans set at Little Vine Church

MATTHEWS-- Homecoming will be observed Sunday at Little Vine General Baptist Church on Route One, according to the Rev. Robert G. Cates, pastor.

Observance at the 86-year- old church will begin with Sunday School at 10 a.m., followed by the morning worship service at 11.

A fellowship dinner is scheduled at noon and will be followed at 1 p.m. by singing by the Culpeppers of Meridian, Miss., the Singing Souls, the Nelson Family and the church quartet.

This week's Uniform INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Dr. William H. Taft

FOR MARCH 18, 1973

Scripture: Psalm 14:2,3; Jeremiah 10:23; 17:9,10; Romans 1:28-2:1

MAN HAS GONE ASTRAY

Isaiah summed up our problem rather well when he wrote that "All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned every one to his own way."

Several months ago as we started a new year many Americans made resolutions to become better Christians, better citizens, and better neighbors.

It isn't difficult to learn where man has gone astray. One merely needs to look about him, with a close view of his environment. He has destroyed much of the world God gave him centuries ago.

Man has gone astray in his relations with his family. He has encountered problems with his children in such areas as the drug scene.

Man has gone astray in his failure to save us from pollution. Churches today are delving into the moral implications of the factors that continue to threaten our existence.

Human life on this planet is in jeopardy. Some scientists even claim that a showdown in technology is necessary for our survival. Some humans find themselves caught up in the too rapidly advancing technical era.

The Phillips translation of Romans tells us that "I often find that I have the will to do good, but not the power." The history of human sin is the history of our refusal to acknowledge our inability to manage our own lives.

At the same time, God looks over us, providing all the help and guidance we pray for. A recent news story noted that "In a time of confusion and rapid change, we need to learn all we can about religious values and resources in the life of our people."

Some church leaders feel that religious questions should be included on the next census, since "religion is more important than bathtubs."

Such questions would seek answers to questions concerning our health, welfare, and happiness. Religious attitudes and beliefs are allied with our well-being and mental health.

Under such urgent need for answers, these church leaders feel it is no longer necessary to retain our deep-rooted conviction against asking religious questions of the general public.

God told us centuries ago that religion is concerned not only with today but with tomorrow as well. He knew our weaknesses and our inability to follow His teachings all the time.

Our realistic view of today's world must acknowledge our failure to confess our failures to follow the Scriptures.

Confessing our own mistakes is extremely difficult. We refuse to blame ourselves for our problems of inflation, ararchy, or communism. We pretend such problems are "out there," in a world apart from ours. All men, however, must accept some of the blame for today's sins.

One must realize at the same time that men often refuse to heed the warnings about God's judgments on their sins. This was reviewed in previous lessons about Jeremiah and the other prophets. They warned the people. Few persons listened.

Today's Scriptures remind us of man's failure to obey God or to honor Him. Obviously, the knowledge of punishment is not a deterrent to sin. Our crowded jails are vivid evidence of this view.

No matter how hard we try, we cannot come up with any real excuses for our failure to follow Gods' teachings.

One writer has said that there are only two kinds of people: those who practice sin, approve of it and encourage others, and those who also practice sin but criticize others for doing it.

Unfortunately, too many of us fall in the second category. And many even enjoy it.

Yet it will be more useful if we plea "God be merciful to me, sinner that I am."

GETTING READY FOR LENT

By REV. DAVID POLING

Each week, when Congress is in session, some 15 or 20 senators gather for breakfast and discussion. These men of different party and denominational persuasion are joined in a deep fellowship: prayer. Throughout the year they meet, with invited guests, to ponder the deep questions of life, to share insights of the Bible and consider their calling as men who believe in God.

Over the years the only non-senator present was columnist and editor David Lawrence. Close to many of the senators and concerned with the larger spiritual questions that every thoughtful person must ponder, he became a regular and faithful participant. His death will be a real loss to this vital gathering.

And so is the tragic shooting of Senator Stennis. This Southern Presbyterian is unofficial greeter of the weekly prayer breakfast that continually sends word of comfort and hope to his hospital bedside.

Another active member is Senator Mark Hatfield who addressed the national prayer breakfast in Washington a month ago. His remarks to that august group (including President Nixon, military leaders and congressmen) deserve a wide readership. And much has clear relationship to Lent and the journey of one's soul.

"Events such as this prayer breakfast contain the real danger of misplaced allegiance if not downright idolatry to the extent that they fail to distinguish between the god of civil religions and the God who reveals himself in the Holy Scriptures and in Jesus Christ. If we as leaders appeal to the god of civil religion, then our faith is in a small and exclusive deity, a loyal spiritual Advisor to power and prestige, a Defender of only the American nation, the object of a national folk religion devoid of moral content.

"But if we pray to the biblical God of justice and righteousness we fall under the God's judgment for calling upon his name, but failing to obey his commands. God in the Bible states that acceptable worship and obedience are expressed by specific acts of love and justice. We sit here today as the wealthy and the powerful. But let us not forget that those who truly follow Christ will more often find themselves not with comfortable majorities, but with miserable minorities.

"Today our prayers must begin with repentance. Individually we must seek forgiveness for the exile of love from our hearts and corporately as a people we must turn in repentance from that sin that has scarred our national soul. What is needed is a 'confessing church' — a body of people who confess Jesus as Lord and are prepared to live by their confession.

"Lives under the Lordship of Jesus Christ at this point in our history may well put us at odds with values of our society, abuses of political power and cultural conformity of our church.

"We need those who seek to honor the claims of discipleship — those who live in active obedience to the call: do not be conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewal of your mind.

Pope Paul calls world synod in '74

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI has summoned the fourth world synod of Roman Catholic bishops for October, 1974.

The pontiff has assigned the synod to debate the "evangelization of the contemporary world," or the ways and means of updating the Christian religion in order to respond more closely to the expectation and needs of modern man.

The previous synods were held at two-year intervals, in 1967, 1969 and 1971. But during the 1971 synod many bishops complained that they had not had enough time for thorough study and research beforehand of the two momentous subjects then under discussion: priesthood and justice.

The synod acts as a kind of senate, discussing and voting on recommendations to submit to the pontiff. The recommendations are not binding on the Pope, but he put into practice most decisions of the past three synods.

Lent emphasis shifts

NEW YORK (AP) — The number 40 recurs like a refrain in Biblical events and it marks the length of an age-old observance that Christians began last week — the 40 days of Lent.

Nowadays, however, it has a different emphasis than it once did. Attention now is focused not so much on doing without something as on doing something in a positive sense to improve oneself and the conditions of others.

"More important than giving up something is giving something," the Rev. Dr. Albert P. Stauderman, editor of a denominational weekly, "The Lutheran," says of the general shift away from the older practices of fasting.

The new approach is pointed up in Scripture readings used in the liturgy of the period, such as in Isaiah 58, which says that rather than dietary fasting, God wants justice for the oppressed and shared bread with the hungry.

"Then...your healing shall spring up speedily....Then you shall call, and the Lord will answer."

The observance is intended for penitence from wrongdoing, for rededication and spiritual renewal as a preparation for the Easter celebration of Christ's Resurrection.

How it came to run for 40 days is not altogether clear, since it originally lasted only a day or two in the beginning years of Christianity, and later only a week.

It was lengthened to 40 days in the 5th century, and that time span now often is seen as deriving from the 40 days that Jesus fasted in the wilderness before beginning his ministry.

In the flood for which Noah built his ark, it rained for 40 days and 40 nights. The children of Israel wandered for 40 years in the wilderness. Moses spent 40 days and nights atop Mount Sinai when he received the 10 Commandments.

Forty hours elapsed from the moment Jesus died on the cross until His hour of Resurrection. The period of the Resurrection appearances lasted 40 days before Jesus ascended into the divine sphere.

The 40 days of Lent doesn't include Sundays, which were not "fast days" in the older modes of observance, when the emphasis was mainly on restricted diets and self-denial, which often took trivial forms such as foregoing sweets.

Roman Catholicism, in the changes of the mid-60s emanating from the Second Vatican Council, abolished its Lenten rules limiting eating to one full meal with meat a day, leaving it up to individuals to choose more meaningful ways of observing the period.

Episcopalians, Lutherans and other Protestants that observe Lent previously had moved away from the dietary formulas and put the emphasis on positive steps for deepening commitment and helping the needy.

Church drives for relief funds for work among the world's poor are part of the observance.

However, aside from such tangible efforts, the period also calls for inner spiritual reform, for reassessment and recommitment, for developing more regular habits of Bible study, meditation and prayer.

Services in fellowship hall

Services at First Christian Church, 1040 N. Main St., will be held in the fellowship hall this Sunday morning because of redecorating work under way in the sanctuary, the Rev. Paul Walker, pastor, announced today.

Worship services are scheduled at 8:15 and 10:30 and Sunday School at 9:30. Painting of the sanctuary will be completed next week, the pastor said.

than $7,000. Currently the school systems set the salaries.

The same resolution also commended school districts which have adopted policies to allow teachers to participate in development of policies that affect teachers, such as curriculum, salary and fringe benefits. The resolution also urged duty free lunch hours and definite grievance procedures.

Another resolution, based on school finance, was divided into three sections. The first section was local support which declared the use of real and personal property taxes as the only bases for local school financial support unrealistic.

It urged the state tax commission to continue its program of equalization of tax assessments throughout the state and recommended an amendment to the Missouri Constitution to make it possible to pass school bonds and operating levies with a simple majority instead of two-thirds vote.

The second part of the resolution was on state support. It urged the legislature to seek new sources of revenue for schools that would stabilize current sources of revenue and to assume the responsibility of funding junior colleges. It also called for a junior college in the Bootheel, although no location was specified.

The third part was based on federal support. This called on the federal government to share equally the cost of education with the local and state government.

Thursday morning at the general session, three persons were honored for meritorious service to education. They were Mrs. Letty Burris of Fredericktown, a fifth grade teacher in the Farmington R-7 School District; State Sen. Nelson B. Tinnin of Hornersville, a former teacher; and Floyd E. Hamlett of Caruthersville, superintendent of the Pemiscot County R-3 School District.

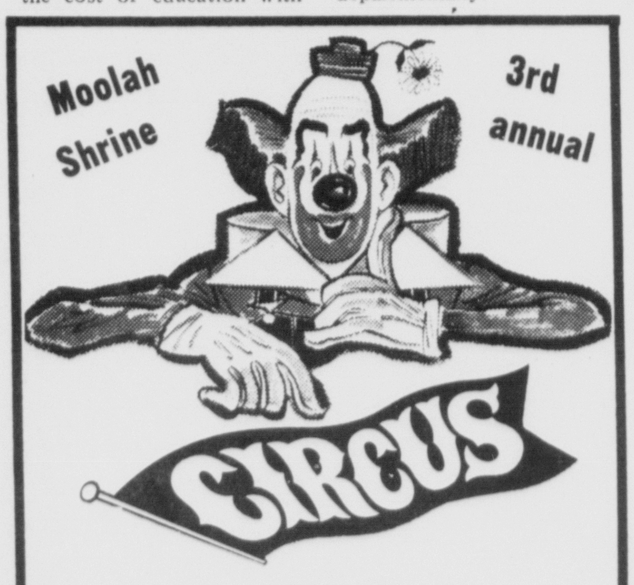

The main speaker at the general assembly was Dr. Wilson G. Riles of California, who is state superintendent of public instruction in California.

He stressed the value of adequate financial support and called upon Southeast Missouri educators to recognize that, for the most part, policies affecting education do come through political decisions.

His remarks were keyed to the topic, "Where We Are in Education," as he addressed about 3,500 teachers and administrators in Houck Field house.

"We in education tend to believe politics are dirty. But, I tell you that is where policies are made. Politics is the name of the game. We can be non-partisan, which is not only legal, but practical," he said.

Thursday afternoon four broad meetings were held for elementary, junior high, senior high teachers, and school administrators. Today's sessions were divided departmentally.

Attendance causes Dexter schools to loose money

DEXTER — A decrease in the average daily attendance is causing the Dexter School System to lose $16,500 in federal funds this year, T. S. Hill told school board members at a recent meeting.

The school system has 40 less students than last year, Hill said. He explained that most of the loss has occurred in the lower grades.

A bid for two new school buses was accepted. Each bus will cost $6,269 plus trade-in and will be delivered in August.

Hill said anyone interested in buying one of the buses being used as trade-ins should contact Watts Enterprise Co., Conway, Ark.

The contract of Asst. Supt. Carl Davis was renewed as well as those of Dexter's four school principals, John DeArman of the high school, Wilson Jarrell of junior high, Joe Gibbons of Southwest elementary and Bob Brison of Central elementary.

According to Hill, the assessed tax valuation of the district for 1972 is $12,309,496. This represents an increase of $354,280, he said.

The assessment ratio for Stoddard County, Hill continued, is 28.1 for 1972. For a school district to be able to participate in second level state aid, it must levy a tax rate of $3.50 based on a 30 per cent ratio. Therefore, Hill explained, a tax rate of $3.94 will be required for a school in Stoddard County to participate in second level state aid next year.

Bond No. 4, in amount of $45,000, was presented to the board and destroyed. The bond matured Feb. 1.

It was announced that the total number of bonds outstanding, $45,000 will mature Feb. 1, 1974. At this time, the district will be free of all bonds and indebtedness unless other bonds are approved.

Board members approved the development of a disaster plan for the Dexter- public schools as submitted by Hill, and suggested that work on the project begin immediately.

Asst. Supt. Davis was appointed chairman of the committee to develop the plan which will involve both members of the school system and community.

Six Dexter residents named to the committee include Al Banken, fire chief; Dale Pursell, civil defense; Sanders Walpole, policeman; Mrs. Barney Miller; Delmar Barks; and Jerry Grojean.

Members of the school board and school administrators will attend a joint meeting of the Southeast Missouri School Administrators Association and Southeast Missouri School Board Association March 29 in Sikeston.

Plans made for chamber dinner at East Prairie

EAST PRAIRIE — Plans are being completed this week for the annual Chamber of Commerce membership dinner meeting to be held at the community building at 7 p.m. March 26.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Melton head the program committee and report that they do not have a positive commitment for a guest speaker but hope to have one soon. Jack Barnhill is in charge of the food arrangements and promises a good meal.

Tickets went on sale today and will be available at Aycock's and at Hogan's Farm Supply Store. Several members of the chamber will also be carrying tickets and offering them to members.

A feature of the meeting will be the presentation of the annual "Man of the Year Award", a joint selection by the Chamber of Commerce and the Community Betterment group.

The main business item to be transacted at the meeting is the annual election of directors.

Terms are expiring for Winchester, Emory and Hogan. Three new directors will be elected.

Thieves butcher cow

EAST PRAIRIE— Story Cattle Co. has posted a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who slaughtered a Hereford cow in its pasture near East Prairie.

The nocturnal butchers visited the pasture three miles east of East Prairie either Saturday or Sunday night, killed and butchered the pregnant cow, helped themselves to the choicest portions, and left the carcass beside the road.

George and Sam Story said the remains were found Monday morning, and the sheriff's office began an investigation.

The loss was put at over $500.

Moore said he didn't care where the Magistrate Court is located, but he thinks it should be given a large room.

Members of the County University of Missouri Extension Council, area home economists, area youth agents, 4-H Clubs and other group leaders who hold regular meetings in the extension center meeting room said they felt they were being moved into the street.

According to the group, some of the older women and men in the organizations would not be able to climb the steps to the third floor.

The group asked the County Court to explore any possible alternate to moving the extension center before making a decision.

The group also said that, since the present room already has kitchen facilities, they felt it would be a waste of money to be moved to the third floor and have to pay out money to have water and other facilities put in the room.

15 appear in City Court at Charleston

CHARLESTON — Fifteen persons appeared in City Court this morning.

The other 13 each paid $2 fines for failure to purchase a city license. Paying fines were: Steven Coffer, Lawrence Smith, A. Wright, Ava Nell Smith, Joyce Teague, Brenda Kersey, Mike Ellis, Joe Ellis, George Shelby Jr., Larry Jackson, John Robert Bledso, Phyllis Dover and Timothy Rolwing.

A $1 penalty was added to the $3.50 charge for the city license, which had to be purchased before fines were paid.

Deadline for purchasing licenses without penalty was 5 p.m. Thursday.

Kewanee Mercantile burglarized fourth time since November

KEWANEE Kewanee Mercantile Co. was burglarized early this morning for the fourth time since November.

A cash register drawer containing about $3 in change and two keys were reported stolen in the breakin about 3:45 a.m.

Entry was made by breaking a window pane and reaching inside to unlatch a lock.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoots Fairless, who live near the store, reported they were awakened by the glass breaking and saw two persons come out of the store. Fairless fired two shots in the air but the burglars escaped.

New Madrid County Sheriff's deputies are investigating.

Former Bloomfield coach honored

MOBERLY, Mo. — It takes a particular blend of just the right ingredients to provide the makeup of a successful basketball coach.

He must have specific qualities which, fused together or seen alone, make him stand out as a leader, a strategist and a rare person whose mere presence draws the respect of his players and fellow coaches, as well as the fans.

It takes dedication to achieve his goals. He must be willing to spend days and hours as well as weeks and months away from home to do his job to his utmost capability.

And, last but not least, it takes a touch of modesty. You never hear the top-notch coaches such as a John Wooden or a Cotton Fitzsimmons or a Dan Devine blow their own horn.

They just go out and do their job. When the rare moments of defeat and/or disappointment do strike them, they are the first to stand up and take the blame.

But they are always ready to pass the Laurel on to their players and staff when the credit for a job well done is deservedly sent their way.

So when the Moberly Area Junior College Basketball coach was contacted about being named region 16 coach of the year, it was expected he would pass the credit for his success on to those he had worked with all year.

"Naturally I'm elated," he said at first. "Any time you receive something like this it is a great honor." He was quick to share it with his friends, players and fellow coaches. "It took and effort by our assistant coaches (Harrison Stepter and Lee Kariker) and all the players. We had great cooperation from everyone, the people at school, just everybody."

"I think all the factors have been conducive to letting us have the good year. I've just been fortunate to be at the right place at the right time."

However, nobody will ever accuse Spoonhour of being opportunistic. "People underestimated the ability of our ballplayers," he explained, "Particularly in the case of our big men considering the way they came along this year. Vernon (Dison) came so far." "But Lee Kariker deserves the credit for that. He worked with them more than I did."

And the coach wouldn't discount the individual skills of his players. "No one coached Dennis Hill how to jump, Otis Jackson how to shoot, or Jerry Cochran how to hustle. It was just a matter of being here. I think the setting was here."

But it takes more than a proper setting to write a novel, put on a play, or have a winning basketball team.

One of the things the Moberly setting needed this past season was a man, a coach to make everything go. And Charles Spoonhour, the Rogers, Ark., native who kept everyone loose with his colloquialism, made it happen.

He convinced Jackson and Cochran to stay on Board when many others were deserting the ship. He went out and found Hill and Roger Mathes, players who were unhappy at other schools. He recruited the freshmen who were to play such vital roles in the successful Greyhound season.

And he made that season a success. His 26-9 record was the best ever for a first year coach at MAJC. And that includes the hallowed years of Maury John and Fitzsimmons, as well as his predecessor, Rich Daly.

How did he do it? By silently commanding the respect of his players. They just wanted to work hard and play hard for Spoonhour.

"I feel like with this bunch I had pretty good rapport," he said. "I liked them because of the way they worked hard and tried to do the little things. They had the proper attitude and weren't above being chewed out by me. I think we just had some players who decided they wanted to win. And that they did. The 26 victories included wins over nationally known teams such as Robert Morris (Ill.), Paducah (Ky.), Hutchinson (Kan.), and Burlington (IA.). And the last two came on the road, where the hounds lost only four regular season games.

"The way we were able to play on the road was really something," Spoonhour commented. "It was a matter of being mentally prepared." Which the coach also wanted to credit to his players.

"Jackson and Hill led the way by working hard and some of the young people who liked to play followed along. Cochran and Mathes were always ready for anything, and Sherman Curtis did so well so many times."

"I think it was an atmosphere the players created themselves. I think they wanted to show that they were better than what the people thought. These fellows just had a lot of pride." Something the Region 16 coach of the year shared with them.

Three Rivers CC seeks fifth

On Thursday, Olney blasted Bacone 88-64 and Hutchinson upended Tigerville 99-90 to advance.

In the losers' bracket, Paducah topped Dixie College, Utah, 84-75; Ulster, N.Y., edged Dalton, Ga., 82-80; Cocoa dumped Vincennes, Ind., meets Trenton, N.J., and host Burlington 93-85, and Poplar Bluff clipped Waco, Tex. 100-74.

Teko Wynder tallied 30 points and Rudy Jacson contributed 29 for Hutchinson. Gregg Ashorn scored 23 points and Phil Jarett added 22 for Tigerville.

Paducah's Herb Williams was deadly from the corner and wound up with 24 points. Lionel Williams hit for 30 for Dixie.

Cocoa's attack was sparked by Larry Warren's 28 points. Joe Cosey had 21 for Burlington.

Three Rivers Community College of Poplar Bluff, Mo., raced to a 45-32 first half lead over Mc Lennan College of Waco, Tex., and held on for a 100-74 decision in a losers bracket contest.

Coach Gene Bess' Raiders, who are bidding for a fifth place finish in the 16 team event, got 23 point leadership from Ron Johnson and double figure scoring from four other players on the way to recording their 27th victory in 37 games this season.

TRCC was scheduled to play South Idaho of Twin Falls at noon today. A win would push the Raiders into a battle for fifth place Saturday afternoon.

Can you spot the Camel Filters smoker?

In this picture everybody has a gimmick . . . almost everybody. Try picking the one who doesn't go along. 1. Not him. He's Lance Boyle. His gimmick: brags about wars he was never in. Yells "bombs away" each time he knocks the ash off his oval French cigarette. 2. Nope. He's Harvey Dibble. Runs "Harve's Health Food Haven," specializing in organically grown dried prunes. Sneaks a hamburger when he can get away with it. Gimmick: smokes wheat germ cigarettes. Thinks it helps business. 3. Eunice Trace, Starlet. Her gimmick: restoring wholesome entertainment to movies. (Her latest film was reviewed: "At last—a movie the entire family can walk out on.") 4. Smokey Stanhope, accountant. His gimmick: a guitar. Thinks it makes him irresistible to the opposite sex. Unfortunately makes the mistake of playing it. 5. Right! He's just himself. And he sees through all the gimmicks. That's why he smokes an honest, no-nonsense cigarette. Camel Filters. Easy and good tasting. Made from fine tobacco. 6. Cracks his knuckles a lot and calls himself "Killer" (real name: Morris Friedfogel). Gimmick: spends weekends trying to get someone to play soccer with him. When he puffs out his chest, his pants fall down.

Uhls enters 14th season

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"I'm just sick," said Jerry Tarkanian of Long Beach State.

"I guess I've just lost the old zip," said Al McGuire of Marquette.

Both coaches weren't in the best of health after taking upsets in the NCAA basketball playoffs Thursday night.

As a matter of fact, their teams didn't look too good either. The University of San Francisco stopped Tarkanian's 49ers 77-67 in the West Regional semifinals and Marquette suffered a 75-69 loss to underdog Indiana in the Mideast.

San Francisco thus earned a short at defending national champion UCLA in West finals tomorrow. The top-ranked Bruins won their semifinal test with a 98-81 triumph over outgunned Arizona State.

Indiana's triumph set up a Mideast final with Kentucky, which trimmed Austin Peay 106-100 in overtime in the other semifinal game Thursday night.

Maryland and Providence moved up with triumphs in East Regional semis and Memphis State and Kansas State did the same in the Midwest.

Maryland drubbed Syracuse 91-75 and Providence turned back Penn 87-65. Memphis State crushed South Carolina 90-76 and Kansas State upended Southwestern Louisiana 66-63

"We are confident we can beat UCLA if we play together as a team," said Quick.

"Indiana was the better ballclub tonight. They beat us on the boards and they had us in foul trouble in both halves. They were well coached and never lost their poise.

"I didn't do a good coaching job. I wasn't quick. Maybe I just lost the old zip tonight. That happens sometimes."

UCLA, meanwhile, charged to a 51-37 halftime lead over Arizona State behind Larry Hollyfield's 18 points and breezed to its 72nd straight triumph.

Kansas State used an effective slow-down game and the outside shooting of Ernie Kushnyer and Lon Krueger to defeat Southwestern Louisiana. Larry Kenon's 34 points powered Memphis State past South Carolina.

Maryland staggered Syracuse with 12 straight points early in the second half and went on to an easy victory over the shorter Orangemen. Providence hammered Penn's Ivy Leaguers as Marvin Barnes scored 20 points and Ernie DiGregorio and Nehru King 18 each.

In the NCAA College Division tourney at Evansville, Ind., Kentucky State edged Brockport 96-90 and Tennessee State blasted Assumption 106-76 to advance to Friday night's finals.

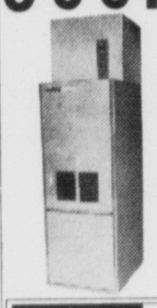

In the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics quarter-finals at Kansas City, Maryland-Eastern Shore beat New Orleans Xavier 87-80; Slippery Rock defeated Wisconsin-Green Bay 60-58; Guilford, N.C., edged Westmont, Calif. 70-67 and Augustana, Ill., whipped Oklahoma Baptist 63-46.

CAPE GIRARDEAU — Unproven pitching and hitting cast shadows of doubt over the Southeast Missouri State University baseball camp, as Joe Uhls enters his 14th campaign as the Indian diamond chief.

Missing from the Tribe roster are four key players from last season -- two top pitchers and the team's top two batters.

Gone from the pitching staff are Mike Payne, who wound up his senior year with a 5-1 record and an ERA of 1.88, and his brother Jerry, who had a 2-2 mark in 1972 as a junior. Jerry had been counted on by Coach Uhls as a mainstay of the mound staff this season, but he did not return to school.

Also departed are first baseman Mark Drury and outfielder Ron Auer who had respective batting averages of .397 and .377. Drury led the team in RBI's, and Auer was the Tribe's home run king.

The Indians, according to Coach Uhls, have only one experienced pitcher and no .300 hitters returning this season.

The experienced hurler is Galen McSpadden, a junior southpaw from Puxico who has earned two varsity letters. McSpadden had a 3-3 record last year in 37 innings, had 33 strikeouts, and recorded a 3.13 ERA.

Three other pitchers also return from the '72 squad, but only one can boast of as many as 14 innings of collegiate experience. They are Steve Elfrank, a junior from Festus who compiled a 0-2 record; Charles Powell, a senior from Crystal City who earned a win in two decisions; and Mike Raley, a Festus sophomore who had no record.

Vickery was on the Indian roster as a freshman, but did not go out for the team last season.

In the outfield the Tribe is blessed with two players who saw a lot of action last season in starting roles.

Steve Yount, a three- year letterman from Leadwood, is hoping to bounce back from a disappointing .222 season at the plate. Also looking for more success with the bat this year is Ron Kelam, a St. Louis senior, who hit only .156 in 45 at bats last season.

A third returning outfielder is John Paskus, a senior from Madison, Ill., who saw limited action last season but hit .417 in a dozen appearances at the plate.

There are plenty of contenders for infield positions at Southeast Missouri State, but all but four are new to the squad.

The four are Jim Erlacker, a junior from Perryville, who appeared in 18 games last season but had a terrible batting average; Jeff Landgraf, a senior from Jackson, who had 13 appearances and a .200 average; Mike Dambach of Ellbourn, who got into eight games, and Mike Howe of Cape Girardeau, who played in three contests.

Landgraf will probably start at shortstop, while Dambach and Howe are battling for the third base position. Landgraf will be challenged at short by Erlacker, who can also play second. However, the likely starter at second is Gary Wengert, a transfer from Benedictine College. The St. Marys native is also listed as a catcher.

Barry Stahl, a versatile athlete from Ellsinore, is a top prospect for the starting job at first base. Stahl, a transfer from Three Rivers Junior College in Poplar Bluff and just back from two years in the armed forces, can also play the outfield or pitch, if necessary, according to Coach Uhls.

Other infield candidates are Lee Warren, a transfer from the University of Missouri -- St. Louis, Scott Davis, a transfer from Peru, Neb., and John Johnson, a freshman from Lutesville.

Returning behind the plate for 1973 is Cape Girardeau junior Terry Kitchen, who hit .241 last season. Also regarded as a good first baseman, Kitchen will get some catching help from Gary Sutton, a junior from Imperial. Sutton is a transfer from Arkansas Tech.

At this point Uhls simply says he is "hopeful" that his pitching staff and hitters will come through, but the Indian chief is somewhat encouraged because "the weather has been real good so far, and we have been outside in practice more at this date than at anytime I've been here."

The Tribe was scheduled to open the season Wednesday (March 14) with a double- header at Centenary College in Shreveport, La. Two games at Ouachita Baptist in Arkadelphia, Ark., were scheduled Thrusday (March 15). A single game with Christian Brothers College in Memphis is on tap for Friday and the Indians meet Memphis State university in another single outing on Saturday.

Southeast Missouri State will open its home season March 23 with a 1 p.m. doubleheader against Luther College. This will be followed March 24 with another home twinbill against Christian Brothers College of Memphis, also at 1 p.m.

Last season the Indians notched an 11-10 overall record and went 6-4 in the MIAA.

Assisting Uhls with the coaching chores this spring are John Wilson, who played third base for the Tribe last year, and Norm Van Amburg, who coached at several area high schools before returning to Southeast Missouri State to work on his master's degree.

Blake signs with Mizzou

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Pete Blake, an all- state wide receiver from Hazelwood, Mo., has signed a Big Eight football letter- of- intent with the University of Missouri, Coach Al Onofrio said today.

The gifted 180- pounder, who scored 16 touchdowns for Hazelwood's state 4A co- champions, was named prep "Player of the Year" by the St. Louis Globe- Democrat.

The speedy six- footer was a gifted running back and pass- catcher for Coach Bob Stouffer's Hawks. He netted 727 rushing yards on 104 rushes -- and ran for seven touchdowns. He caught 40 passes for 846 yards, nine of these for touchdowns.

Besides winning all- state, all metro and all- conference recognition, Blake was selected on the scholastic all- America prep football squad.

Blake is the 25th player, signed to a Big Eight commitment, announced by the Tigers.

Mizzou returns to NIT

Coach Norm Stewart's Tigers (21- 5) play the University of Massachusetts (19— 6) in a first- round game Saturday night at 6:35 p.m. CST. Neither Mizzou nor the Redmen have survived opening round action in previous NIT appearances.

Last year, OL' Mizzou was ousted from its first venture in the NIT, losing an 82- 81 overtime battle to St. John's. The Massachusetts entry twice was eliminated by the eventual tourney champion in first- round play.

In 1970, Marquette sent UMass back to Amherst, 62- 55. The next year, North Carolina bounced them out, 90- 49.

Though he pegs Minnesota as the pre- tournament favorite "because of its strong rating," Tiger Coach Stewart adds:

"In tournament play, any ball- club that's playing well and consistently can win it. We're going up there to win. Our concentration or motivation should be better. Since we are returning to New York, the tournament this time should be more significant to us than any of the sidelights."

Curiously enough, Ol' Mizzou opened this campaign with a 12- game winning streak-- while Massachusetts won the last 12 games on its schedule. That UMass string started with a 76- 71 win over Holy Cross at Springfield-- the only common foe for both rivals.

Missouri returns to Madison Square Garden with three of the starters who opened against St. John's a year ago. They are the Tigers' 1- 2- 3 scorers-- John Brown (20.4 avg.), Al Eberhard (17.3), and Mike Jeffries (9.8).

Brown at 6- 7 and the aggressive Eberhard at 6- 5 also were the Big Eight team's 1- 2 rebounders. They made the all- conference first team, with Brown-- the school's all- time scoring king-- landing a second team berth on the Sporting News all- America squad.

Jeffries (6- 3) played in the front- court for Missouri as a junior, but switched to guard this year. Senior Ory Salmon (6- 0) and sophomore Felix Jerman (6- 5) round out the tipoff five.

"The overall size matchup is pretty equal," he says. "Their scoring shows that they play with a team concept-- and they have used about nine men over the season who have played considerably."

Al Skinner, a 6- 3 junior from West Hemstead, N.Y., is the Redmen's top scorer with a 15.1- point average. Curiously, the No. 2 scorer for UMass-- sophomore John Murphy-- currently is riding the bench with an 11.9 average. Similarly, Tom McLaughlin-- No. 4 scorer at 9.7-- is in reserve.

The reason is that Leaman has not altered his starting alignment during the winning streak. Along with Skinner, who also has averaged 9 rebounds a game to lead in that specialty, Tom Austin (6.2 avg.), Charlie Peters (5.5), Rick Pitino (4.1) and Bill Endicott (10.2) compose the starting crew.

Austin at 6- 9, and Peters at 6- 7 will join with Skinner to challenged Missouri's board- hawking trio of Brown, Eberhard and Jerman.

Ol' Mizzou, which climbed as high as fifth in the early- season national ratings, was lodged at No. 15 in the final Associated Press poll.

Winner of the Mizzou- Massachusetts game will meet the winner of the Oral Roberts- North Carolina contest Tuesday night.

Massachusetts (19- 6)	Pos.
Al Skinner (6- 3)	F
Tom Austin (6- 9)	F
Charlie Peters (6- 7)	C
Rick Pitino (6- 0)	G
Bill Endicott (6- 2)	G
Missouri (21- 5)
Felix Jerman (6- 5)	F
Al Eberhard (6- 5)	F
John Brown (6- 7)	C
Orv Salmon (6- 0)	G
Mike Jeffries (6- 3)	G

Brown named to Star teams

COLUMBIA, Mo., — Mizzou's John Brown will be playing in two post- season all- star games following his windup competition for the Tigers in the 1973 National Invitation Tournament.

The 6-7 alltime scoring king at Mizzou will be on the West squad in the nationally- televised East- West game at Dayton, Ohio on March 31.

Then he will fly directly to Hawaii for the Aloha Classic on April 5-6-7.

Dan Devine inducted

COLUMBIA, Mo. — Wisconsin- born Dan Devine, who won national prominence during 13 head- coaching seasons at the University fo Missouri before returning to his native state as Green Bay Packer coach and general manager, will be inducted into Missouri's Sports Hall of Fame here next month.

The awards dinner, normally held each autumn following a Tiger football game, will be shifted this year to Saturday, April 28, so that Devine can be present for the ceremonies.

The dinner will follow Mizzou's final spring intrasquad football game -- and will be held in the Dianiel Boone City- County building (formerly the Daniel Boone hotel). A reception will start at 5 p.m., with the dinner set for 6:30.

Tickets are $5.50 each and may be obtained by sending a check to Don Faurot, Hearnes Building, University of Missouri, Columbia, Mo. 65201.

Devine fashioned a won- lost record of 76.7 percent at Mizzou during the decade of the 60's -- and his Tiger teams won four of six bowl games. At Missouri he compiled a 93-37-7 record from 1958-70. During this span, Bengal football teams were ranked nine times among the nation's top twenty powers.

Prior to taking the Missouri job, Devine was head football coach for three years at Arizona State in Tempe.

Drummer is more than meets the eye

(Daily Standard photo Tim Ludwig)

By MARY NOLEN

When playing music professionally becomes your main goal in life, what should you do? For Stephen Richard Berryman, 25, a native of Kansas City, it meant leaving Rockhurst College in Kansas City where he taught music and karate and studied psychology to join a musical group known as "The Chasers Fore", playing nightly at Ramada Inn through Saturday.

Berryman has played drums for the band for about a year. He also plays the trombone, saxophone and xylophone, instruments he learned to play on his own.

In his spare time, Berryman has written several songs for the band to perform and hopes they will be singing some of them before long.

He was born and reared in Cameron. After graduation from Cameron High School, he entered the Navy and, for two and a half years, was a Navy musician, playing in California and overseas. After leaving the Navy and spending some time in Flordia, Berryman went to Kansas City to attend Rockhurst college and played part time at a pizza place on Saturday nights and in a ballroom on Sundays.

While attending college Berryman conducted music classes and taught the Rockhurst College band, doing most of the writing and arranging. During his second year of teaching, Berryman received a call from "The Chasers Fore" that they needed a drummer for their band. After deciding the musical experience would outweigh anything the college would be able to offer, Berryman joined the group.

Since joining the group, Berryman says he feels he has made 100 per cent progress in the field of music.

When asked who his favorite musician is, Berryman replied, "Buddy Rich has been my idol for a long time, since he too plays the drums."

Since arriving in Sikeston, Berryman said he thinks most of the people prefer music acceptable for dancing. Although the group's reception in Sikeston has been good, he feels the best response was received in Flint, Mich. "We made a lot of friends there", Berryman said.

On the average the band remains in one place for a period of only two weeks. Berryman said he occasionally gets tired of being on the road so much, but, generally, he enjoys being able to travel around and see places he ordinarily would not be able to see.

Berryman has no immediate plans to leave the band or give up music and he hopes to continue playing the drums for several years.

He said he wants to learn how to play the guitar, trumpet and, in general, all of the instruments used in the band.

Although he hasn't really decided what he will do after he leaves the band, he said there may be a possibility of returning to teaching but that he would like to go into studio playing and songwriting.

Berryman, who originally planned to become a doctor, studied psychology while in college and to an extent, continues to do so on his own. "Although I really wanted to do this, I always seem to come back to music," Berryman said.

Often while traveling Berryman will teach the basic techniques of karate to anyone interested in learning. He holds a second degree black belt.

The other four members of the five- piece band are Sharon Andrea, Richard Launstein, George Gilbert and Winston Higham, all of St. Louis.

Rex changes films

The management of Malco Theatres apparently will comply with a request from Prosecuting Attorney Jim Moore that it not show two movies scheduled to start tonight at Rex Theatre in Sikeston.

"Tobacco Roody" and "Southern Comforts" will be replaced with two R rated films "Cindy and Donna" and "Fountain of Love," according to the management.

Moore said the two movies originally scheduled had received considerable notoriety in Southeast Missouri and the showing of "Tobacco Roody" had previously been stopped in Sikeston.
